

THE LADY IN HER SHOES

UK Home Secretary Theresa May, who is the preferred choice of 199 out of 330 Conservative MPs to be the next leader of their party and the government, is peculiarly popular for her shoe fetish. She sported thigh-high leather boots to greet the Queen at the Horse Guards Parade last year. She wore similar boots for a function to welcome South Korean President Park Geun-Hye back in 2013. She is unapologetic about her fancy footwear and describes this quirky penchant as an 'icebreaker'. Here's a look at her fabulous shoe collection

PHOTOS: REUTERS

1

3

6

1. May sported this pair of unusual shoes at a news conference on terrorism in 2015

2. May sported gold hologram wellies at a Conservative Party conference in 2007

3. May wore unorthodox shoes at an event in 2015

2

4

6. The British home secretary's love for animal prints is well-known. She wore kitten heels at the Conservative Party's 2002 annual conference

5. May went to a countering terrorism event in London in 2015 wearing another similar animal print

5

May wore a leopard print at her party's 2013 annual spring forum