To:
The Chairman
Board of Directors
SBFC Finance Ltd

Dear Neeraj,

SBFC Finance Ltd even when it was a germ of an idea was never meant to be a company. It was always to be built as an Institution. An institution that delivers societal value with profits, through the cycles.

To achieve this over the last eight years we have been working to build strong foundation of Governance, processes, checks, balances, control and compliance culture over which business with strong unit economics can be built with robust guardrails of credit and risk management frameworks.

An institution is one that attracts the best of talents and yet is dependent on none for its survival. We have very mindfully and very intentionally built SBFC with these principles in mind.

It's good for the CEO's ego to believe he/she is irreplaceable but the graveyards are full of indispensable men.

Succession planning is the litmus test for if the company has failed to go beyond its ceo then it was just a company and not an institution.

Last week I had requested the board to allow me to hand over the reins to Mahesh with whom the company was co-founded and on whom the NRC and Board have full confidence. The challenge is always to get the quarter and the decade right. I intended that as the ceo works to get the quarter right I focus my energies to get the decade right. This in my opinion is done through building the right culture down the line. A culture of fairness to employees and customers. A culture of excellence, innovation, agility, dependability and of always doing the right thing.

For me personally SBFC is my third child and as dear as the other two. Titles do not matter and as the transition takes place I had as stated in my letter committed myself to continue building the institution. The word non-executive meant the salary would stop but the work was never meant to.

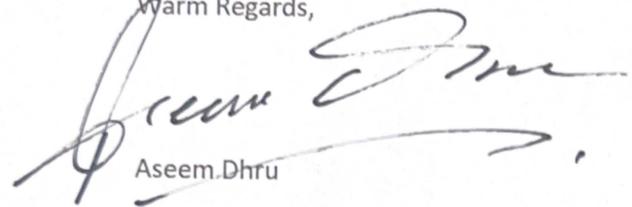

This however is not how the world has generally seen anyone else do and misinterpreted it to mean I am leaving.

As the intention was anyway to do the same, I am happy being an executive vice chairman as recommended to me by the NRC and Board subject to the shareholders approval.

Now, I should get back to the business on hand, that of building a premier institution. One that when I am eighty, retired and sitting on a park bench, my grand kids don't accuse me of wasting oxygen on the planet.

May God guide SBFC's path. ☸

Warm Regards,
