Marico Q4 profit rises 7.8% on strong global business

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 2 May

Homegrown fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG) firm Marico Ltd on Friday reported a 7.81 per cent rise in consolidated net profit to ₹345 crore in the March quarter, driven by volume and revenue growth in India, along with robust international business.

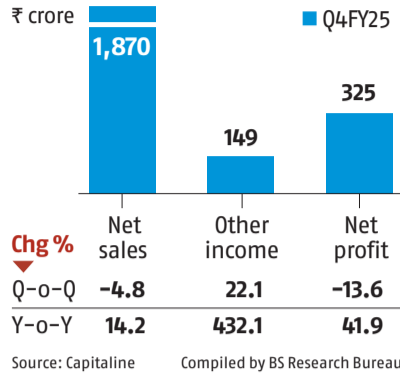

The company had posted a consolidated net profit of ₹320 crore in the same period of the previous financial year, the company said in a regulatory filing.

Consolidated revenue from operations during the quarter under review stood at ₹2,730 crore, as against ₹2,278 crore in the same period a year ago, it added.

Total expenses in the quarter were higher at ₹2,336 crore, compared to ₹1,894 crore in the corresponding period the previous year.

In the March quarter, volume in India grew 7 per cent while the revenues were up 23 per cent. International business saw constant currency growth of 16 per cent, select packs.

On the other hand, Saffola edible oils posted a 26 per cent growth in value terms. The brand recorded a low single-digit volume decline amidst elevated pricing in response to elevated vegetable price tables, it added.

Foods vertical recorded a robust 44 per cent value growth and crossed ₹900 crore in revenues in FY25, the company said.

For the financial year ended March 31, 2025 consolidated net profit was at ₹1,658 crore. It was at ₹1,502 crore in the previous year.

For FY25, consolidated revenue from operations was at ₹10,831 crore. It was at ₹9,653 crore in FY24. Marico MD & CEO Saugata Gupta said in 2024-25, the company crossed the ₹10,000-crore mark in consolidated revenues.

"As set out at the start of the year, we have met our double-digit revenue growth aspiration, backed by top quartile volume growth in the India business and robust growth in the international business," he added.

Pharma industry divided over SC's 'generics' remark

Experts in the medical and pharmaceutical industry appeared divided over the Supreme Court's observation suggesting that doctors should be "legally required" to prescribe generic medicines rather than brands.

Welcoming the SC's remarks, Mandeep Singh Basu, director of Uttar Pradesh-based Jagat Pharma, said that generic prescriptions (if it is made legally binding) could be a strong step towards transparency and lead to reduction in undue commercial influences on a medical professional. "Ornating that generics be prescribed should be a helpful step towards achieving affordability and accountability in India's healthcare system," he added.

However, several experts have raised concerns over the practicality of such a "rule", with questions being raised over public awareness and availability of generics in the market.

Shabnam Sheikh, legal associate at Arogya Legal, said that mandating doctors to prescribe only generic drugs may not be the most effective way to protect patient interests as such a mandate could shift the decision making power from doctors to pharmacists, who can then choose which brand of the generic drug to dispense.

IBM, TCS, Andhra tie up to deploy India's largest quantum computer

BS REPORTER
Mumbai, 2 May

Tech majors Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) and IBM have joined hands to participate in the Andhra Pradesh government's first of a kind Quantum Valley Tech Park in Amaravati. This initiative will develop a vibrant quantum ecosystem to create high-end jobs, attract top-tier talent, and draw global investments.

The tech park will be anchored by an IBM Quantum System Two installation, with a 156-qubit Heron quantum processor, the largest quantum computer in India. TCS is partnering with IBM to support the development of algorithms and applications that will help the Indian industry and academia solve some of the nation's most complex challenges. The Andhra government, IBM and TCS hope to accelerate the development of India's quantum ecosystem through this initiative, said a press note.

Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu said, "India's National Quantum Mission is to make India a global hub in the quantum industry. Andhra Pradesh is set to lead the global quantum revolution, becoming the first state in the world to envision a dedicated Quantum Valley as the foundation of its future economy. With quantum computing poised to transform every major sector in the next 25 years, the state aims to be a first mover in harnessing this emerging frontier." With IBM, TCS, L&T and other members, the Quantum Valley Technology Park, said Naidu, represents how India's industry and academia will soon be able to take an important step forward in accelerating the achievement of our mission's goals.

Jay Gambetta, vice-president, IBM Quantum, said: "We are excited about our plans with the state of Andhra Pradesh to deploy our latest IBM Quantum System Two at the Quantum Valley Tech Park. Our collaboration with TCS will help attract the country's thriving ecosystem of developers, scientists, and industry experts to develop algorithms and applications. Combining this with India's National Quantum Mission we could see an acceleration of the next critical milestone, a successful demonstration of quantum advantage."

Members of the Quantum Valley Tech Park can work with TCS for the opportunity to access IBM's cloud-based quantum computers. Once completed, the Quantum Valley Tech Park will include access to an IBM Quantum System Two with IBM's latest 156-qubit Heron processor.

Harrick Vin, chief technology officer, Tata Consultancy Services, said: "Hybrid architectures are the key to overcoming intractable computing challenges, with quantum computing serving as a catalyst. TCS' Hybrid Computing strategy is creating what we believe is a breakthrough software layer that decomposes programmes across current systems, CPUs, GPUs and emerging computing architectures."

GenZ drives expansion plans for hospitality firms

AKSHARA SRIVASTAVA
New Delhi, 2 May

The GenZ, with a growing penchant for off-the-beaten experiences, has made hospitality companies sit up and take note of their wishes.

Many chains are expanding presence in the country, while serving unique experiences that draw interest from the younger consumer cohort.

Araiya Hotels, helmed by Leela Hotels scion Amruda Nair, has witnessed an interest in well-rounded wellbeing getaways from the new crop of GenZ travellers.

The chain, which currently operates four properties, Gir, Palampur and two in Uttarakhand, plans to reach 10 properties by the end of the ongoing financial year.

As part of the expansion, the company looks to establish unique hotels with no particular niche. This allows them to offer a multitude of

Many hospitality chains are expanding presence in the country, while serving up unique experiences that draw interest from the younger consumer cohort experiences from one single property.

Take for example its Gir resort, which allows for wildlife tourism, also lends itself to spiritual tourism with its proximity to Somnath. The Palampur property allows guests to experience adventure tourism with hiking and trekking trails around it, while also allowing for spiritual tourism due to its proximity to the Tashi Jong monastery.

"What's interesting is that a younger audience that's also seeking this. Even if you look at pilgrimage travel and religious travel, it's also a younger audience. As much as 30 per cent of the religious travellers are between the ages of 25-35," Nair told Business Standard.

The hospitality player is majorly working with first time hotel owners who can turn into long term partners.

Not just Araiya, other hospitality chains are also increasingly focussing on growing revenues on the back of the younger consumer.

In an interview with Business Standard earlier this year, Airbnb Chief Financial Officer, Ellie Mertz said that the company will look at expanding into experiences as a way of tapping into the younger consumer base.

"The idea is to go beyond the traditional landmarks list that a destination may have to offer and offer something local and authentic," she had said.

Hyatt hotels has also identified five cornerstones for growth — luxury, loyalty, leisure, lifestyle, and wellness — being driven by the genz consumer.
