Number of jets lost not important, but why; rectified tactical mistakes: CDS

CLAIMS REBUTTED. Chauhan terms as 'absolutely incorrect' Pak claims of downing 6 fighters; never close to an N-war

Blomberg

India's military confirmed for the first time that it lost an unspecified number of fighter jets in clashes with Pakistan in May, while saying the four-day conflict never came close to the point of a nuclear war.

"What is important is that, not the jet being down, but why they were down," Anil Chauhan, Chief of Defence Staff, said in an interview to Bloomberg TV on Saturday, while attending the Shangri-La Dialogue in Singapore.

He called Pakistan's claims that it shot down six Indian warplanes "absolutely incorrect," though declined to specify how many jets India lost. "Why they were down, what mistakes

Anil Chauhan, Chief of Defence Staff

were made — that are important," Chauhan said when asked about the fighter jets. "Numbers are not important," he added. "The good part is that we were able to understand the tactical mistake which we made, remedy it, rectify it, and then implement it again after two days and flew all our jets again, targeting at long range," Chauhan said.

The comments are the most direct yet from an Indian government or military official on the fate of the country's fighter jets during the conflict with Pakistan that erupted on May 7.

Earlier this month, Pakistani Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif said his country shot down six Indian fighter jets, an assertion that hasn't been independently verified. New Delhi had earlier refrained from commenting on whether it lost aircraft in the fighting.

The clash was the worst between the nuclear-armed neighbours in half a century, with both sides trading air, drone and missile strikes, as well as artillery and small arms fire along their shared border.

It was triggered by a gruesome attack in Pahalgaon on April 22, which saw gunmen kill 26 civilians in what India called an act of terrorism orchestrated by Pakistan. ISlamabad denied involvement. Chauhan declined to comment on President Donald Trump's claim that the US helped to avert a nuclear war, and said it was "far-fetched" to suggest either side was close to using atomic weapons.

"I personally feel that there is a lot of space around between conduct of conventional operations and the nuclear threshold," Chauhan said. Channels of communication with Pakistan "were always open" to control the situation, he added.

CHINA GEAR

Chauhan also downplayed Pakistan's claims about the effectiveness of weaponry deployed from China and other countries, saying they "didn't work."

OPEC+ oil producers stick to plan, signal output hike

Reuters

London/Moscow

The world's largest group of oil producers, OPEC+, stuck to its guns on Saturday with another big increase of 411,000 barrels per day for July as it looks to wrestle back market share and punish over-producers.

Having spent years curbing production — more than 5 million barrels a day (bpd) or 5 per cent of world demand — eight OPEC+ countries made an modest output increase in April before tripling it for May, June and now July.

They are spurring production despite the extra supply weighing on crude prices as group leaders Saudi Arabia and Russia seek to win back market share as well as punish over-producing allies such as Iraq and Kazakhstan.

"Today's decision only goes to show that market share is on top of the agenda. If price will not get you the revenue you want, they are hoping that volume will," said analyst Harry Tchilingirian of Onyx Capital Group.

LARGER HIKE
The eight countries held an online meeting on Saturday to set July production.

They also discussed other options, an OPEC+ delegate said.

On Friday, sources familiar with OPEC+ talks said they could discuss an even larger hike.

In a statement OPEC+ cited a "steady global economic outlook and current healthy market fundamen-als, as reflected in the low oil inventories" as its reasoning for the July increase.

OPEC+ pumps about half of the world's oil and includes OPEC members and allies such as Russia.

INCREASED SUPPLY
Its increased supply is weighing on crude prices, squeezing all producers, but some more than others, including a key group of rivals — U.S. shale producers, analysts say.

"Three strikes from OPEC+, and none were softballs. May warned, June confirmed, and July fires a shot across the bow," said Jorge Leon, head of geopolitical analysis at Rystad and a former OPEC official.

Since April, the OPEC+ eight have now made or announced increases totalling 1.37 million bpd, or 6.2 per cent of the 2.2 million bpd they aim to add back to the market.

Higher summer oil demand favours increasing output at this time, OPEC+ officials including Russian Deputy Prime Minister Alexander Novak have said.
