ENVOYS LOOK TO PM'S CONVERSATION WITH RUSSIAN PRESIDENT

Putin's India visit sparks Europe's push to end war

● This is his 1st visit to New Delhi since Ukraine war began

SHUBHAJIT ROY
New Delhi, December 3

AHEAD OF RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin's arrival in New Delhi Thursday on a two-day state visit to India, his first to the country since the start of the Ukraine war, several envoys and officials of European capitals are learnt to have "privately" urged the Indian government over the last few days to lean on Putin to end the war.

It has been learnt that this was conveyed "politely" and "subtly" by the envoys and officials of many European countries, including some in eastern Europe, who view this war as a threat to their existence and European security. Sources said the gist of the message to Delhi from these European envoys and capitals is: "Putin is a friend of yours, he listens to you, PM Modi has said that solutions can't be found on the battlefield, so please ask him to stop the war."

This messaging is qualitatively different from the one by the Europeans in the immediate aftermath of the start of the war in February 2022 when they had asked India to condemn the Russian action in Ukraine. At that time, several European leaders and Foreign Ministers had travelled to Delhi to convey their strong sentiments and had asked India to choose a side.

Although it refused to explicitly condemn the Russian invasion, Delhi spoke out against the Bucha massacre and sought an international probe into the incident – this call for a global intervention was a rare move by Delhi. Walking a diplomatic tightrope, India consistently

HIGH-LEVEL MEET

■ European envoys have urged Modi to tell Putin to stop the war as they are friends and that Putin listens to Modi

■ Prior to this, European leaders had asked India to condemn Russian action in Ukraine in February 2022

■ Senior MEA officials, gave the European envoys a patient hearing while they prepared for Putin's two-day visit

■ On previous meets, Modi had conveyed Putin to abstain from 'war'

abstained on the resolutions at the UN on the Ukraine war.

The new messaging from Europe is significant given that some of these countries are extremely close strategic partners of India, and many others have emerged as important destinations for Indian workers, students and professionals.

They are also hubs of growth, and source of technology and capital.

In fact, EU leaders have been invited as chief guests for the Republic Day parade in January 2026. South Block mandarins, it is learnt, gave the European envoys and officials a patient hearing while they prepared for the Russian President's two-day visit.

With both the US and Europe mounting pressure on India to cut off oil purchases from Moscow which they say is funding Putin's war machine, the conversations between Putin and Modi will be watched very closely. Interactions between Modi and Putin have been very frequent since 2022 when the Ukraine war began – they have had a total of 16 conversations.

Hosting Putin, Delhi has lined up a private dinner, a state banquet, bilateral meetings, and an address to CEOs. The visit is expected to be very high on the optics and pageantry associated with a state visit. South Block sources pointed out that Modi first told Putin that "this is not the era of war" in September 2022 on the sidelines of the SCO summit in Uzbekistan, six months after Russia invaded Ukraine. They also recalled that Modi and EAM S Jaishankar spoke to Russian leaders when the security of the nuclear power plant in Zaporizhzhia in Ukraine was in question. Delhi also quietly helped in the grain deal between Moscow and Kyiv. And in July 2024, when Modi travelled to Moscow, he again conveyed to Putin that "solutions can't be found on the battlefield." Sources said a similar message will be conveyed to Putin, but it will be up to the stakeholders in the conflict – Ukraine, Russia, Europe and the US – to sit together and resolve the conflict. These messages from Europe were conveyed privately and were taken in the right spirit of diplomatic consultations between countries.

While British, German and French envoys have written an opinion piece in The Times of India, criticising the Russian actions, Poland's Secretary of State Wladyslaw Teofil Bartoszewski, in an interview to The Indian Express, said, "I would very much hope that PM Modi will tell Putin: Listen, President, maybe you should sign the peace deal with Ukraine, because it's not to our advantage, it's not to your advantage, and nobody else, to have that conflict running... Putin pays attention to what PM Modi tells him."

Women athletes power 5x digital lift

INDIA'S WOMEN'S CRICKET

World Cup victory has triggered a sharp commercial shift in women's sports, with the sector on track to touch $2.35 billion in global revenue by 2025, according to a report released by LS Digital. Titled 'The Rise of Women's Sports Marketing in India', it notes that the victory has reset how brands invest, fans engage, and how business around women's sports is evolving.

The report also points out that leading players such as Jemimah Rodrigues and Smriti Mandhana have seen endorsement values rise by 25-100%. It also highlights Mandhana's reported ₹2 crore per brand endorsement fee, and notes that the portfolio size for top athletes can extend to as many as 16 brand partnerships.

ported by a five times surge in digital viewership during major tournaments and a 200% jump in social media engagement over the past three years, the report states.

One of the standout findings is the rise of "patriotic marketing." About 50% of labelled conversations now position women athletes as national symbols, highlighting their cultural influence. Within that space, 78% of patriotic content focuses on narratives of national achievement, while consumer engagement and the "local hero" effect account for 11% each, giving brands a strong emotional layer to build more resonant storytelling.

Brand confidence is rising too, with 86% of sponsors saying their campaigns have met or surpassed ROI expectations. Digital behaviour is driving much of this momentum. Streaming now accounts for over 40% of total viewership, and social engagement around women's sports has climbed nearly 200% in the past three years. Audience patterns are shifting. Social data shows that 57-58% of viewership during recent women's cricket tournaments came from men, challenging assumptions about who the category speaks to. Another 6% of conversations centre on youth inspiration.

The growth trajectory is not limited to cricket, with 22% of conversations spotlighting sports like chess, squash, combat sports, ice hockey and winter sports.
