DoT tightens satcom rules after Pahalgam attack

New guidelines may pose fresh hurdle for Starlink, Project Kuiper

SUBHAYAN CHAKRABORTY
New Delhi, 5 May

WIDER ORBIT

HIGHER COMPLIANCE

■ Metadata tracking by DoT agency; separate clearances for voice and data services

SATELLITE GATEWAYS

■ Separate clearance required for individual hubs

USER TERMINALS

■ Must be spoof-proof and enable real-time data tracking system's monitoring capability before beginning operations. The government also requires detailed information on individual user terminals (UTs), including latitude and longitude, device ID, International Mobile Equipment Identity, and both public and private internet protocol addresses. The UTs must be registered in India and include mechanisms for regular verification. Most importantly, licensees must ensure that no spoofing device can be incorporated into these UTs to conceal their actual location.

The government has emphasised satellite communication (satcom) coverage through conditions that require services to be provided according to official Survey of India maps, with demarcation and special monitoring zones within 50 kilometres of international borders, and geofencing in certain areas.

Operators must also ensure greater compliance by enabling metadata collection by the Telecom Security Operation Centre under DoT and by blocking all websites restricted in India.

To ensure greater Indian oversight, licensees will have to integrate the NavIC (navigation with Indian constellation) satellite navigation system into their user terminals by 2029.

The new conditions also restrict remote operational access to Indian infrastructure from outside the country, permitting it only under strict compliance with remote access protocols issued by DoT. They prohibit the copying or decryption of Indian telecommunications data outside the country. All user traffic must be routed through Indian gateways, and any form of direct communication between user terminals via satellite that bypasses Indian infrastructure is forbidden.

The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has tightened the security conditions that must be met under the Global Mobile Personal Communication by Satellite (GMPCS) services licence, required to offer satellite-based broadband services in India. These include securing separate security clearances for each satellite gateway in India, localisation of all lawful interception facilities, and special provisions mandating services to specific individuals, groups, or geographical areas during hostilities.

The latest move may further delay the plans of Elon Musk-owned Starlink and Amazon's subsidiary Project Kuiper to enter India. Starlink's application for a GMPCS licence has remained under review since November 2022.

Operators must also submit a year-wise phased manufacturing programme aimed at indigenising the ground segment of their satellite networks, which should reach at least 20 per cent within five years of commercial operations. Issued through an office memorandum on Monday, the updated security preconditions come weeks after the April 22 terrorist attack in Jammu & Kashmir's Pahalgam.

Closer scrutiny of satellite gateways has been mandated, with integration into centralised monitoring systems.

Defence spend amid Pak tensions may weigh on India's fisc: Moody's

RUCHIKA CHITRAVANSHI
New Delhi, 5 May

Escalating tensions will hit Pakistan's economy hard and impair the cash-strapped country's access to external financing, in contrast to India which is expected to remain mostly unscathed, Moody's Ratings said on Monday.

In September last year, Pakistan secured a $7 billion bailout programme from the IMF as the country continued to struggle to bring its economy back on the rails. Its foreign exchange reserves shrank to $15.25 billion last month, which is below what is required to meet its external debt payment needs for the next few years.

Soon after the terror attack in Pahalgam, which claimed the lives of 26 tourists, India asked global multilateral agencies, including the IMF, to reconsider the loans provided to Pakistan.

The agency said in its report that tensions with Pakistan are not expected to cause any major disruptions to India's economic activity but higher defence spending would potentially weigh on its fiscal strength and slow its fiscal consolidation.

"Our geopolitical risk assessment for Pakistan and India accounts for persistent tensions, which have, at times, led to limited military responses," the agency said.

It said that sustained escalation in tensions with India are likely to weigh on Pakistan's growth and hamper the country's ongoing fiscal consolidation, setting back its progress in achieving macroeconomic stability.

Comparatively, Moody's said that the macroeconomic conditions in India would be stable, bolstered by moderating but still high levels of growth amid strong public investment and healthy private consumption.

Following the April 22 attack, India suspended the Indus Waters Treaty of 1960. In response, Pakistan suspended the 1972 Simla peace treaty with India.

Moody's Ratings expected that flare-ups will occur periodically, but they will not lead to an outright, broad-based military conflict.

In its April update, Moody's Ratings had projected the Indian economy to grow in the band of 5.5 to 6.5 per cent during the calendar year 2025.

Global airlines steer clear of Pak airspace for India flights

DEEPAK PATEL
New Delhi, 5 May

Major global airlines such as Lufthansa, Swiss, Emirates, American Airlines, Air France, and British Airways have stopped using Pakistan's airspace while operating their flights to and from India, after tensions between India and Pakistan flared following a terrorist attack in Jammu and Kashmir's Pahalgam in which 26 people, most of them tourists, died.

Pakistan had, on April 24, announced the closure of its airspace to Indian carriers. India shut its airspace for Pakistan's airlines from May 1 onwards. International carriers, however, are allowed to use both countries' airspaces.

Yet, Lufthansa's Delhi-Frankfurt flight and Swiss International Air Lines' Delhi-Zurich flight stopped using Pakistani airspace since May 1.

Gujarat and the United Arab Emirates airspace to Europe, according to industry sources. Swiss is part of the Lufthansa Group.

A Lufthansa Group spokesperson said: "Due to the current situation, the airlines of the Lufthansa Group are avoiding Pakistani airspace until further notice. This will result in longer flight times on some routes to Asia."

"We regret any inconvenience caused by the resulting delays. We kindly ask all passengers to check their flight status before departure. Lufthansa Group is, of course, continuing to monitor the current developments closely. Safety is the top priority for all airlines in the Lufthansa Group at all times," the spokesperson added.

British Airways' Delhi-London flight and Air France's Delhi-Paris flight have also not been using Pakistani airspace since May 1.

As a result, the flight time of Air France's Delhi-Paris flight (AF225) has increased by about 90 minutes, industry sources said.

American Airlines' Delhi-New York flights have been avoiding Pakistani airspace since April 30. Emirates' Delhi-Dubai service has also been avoiding this airspace, sources added.

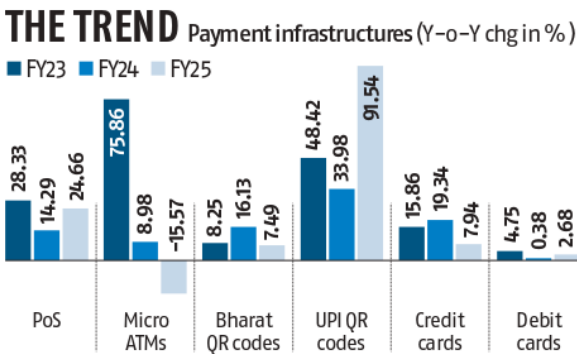

British Airways, Air France, American Airlines, and Emirates did not immediately respond to requests for comment on the matter.

With Indian carriers and major international carriers avoiding its airspace, Pakistan is bound to lose a significant chunk of overflight fees.

Countries earn revenue from overflight fees charged to airlines that use their airspace, even if the aircraft does not land within their borders. These fees are typically calculated based on factors such as the weight of the aircraft and the distance flown within the country's airspace.

However, not all global carriers have started avoiding Pakistan's airspace for their India flights. Sources mentioned that Qatar Airways and Oman Air continue to use that airspace for their India flights.

UPI QR codes fastest-growing payment infra in FY25

UPI QR codes have seen remarkable growth in the last few years compared to other payments infrastructure including credit cards and debit cards, latest data by RBI showed. In FY25, the number of UPI QR codes saw 91.5 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) growth to 657.9 million, while growth in credit card slowed down to 7.94 per cent Y-o-Y. On the other hand, debit card additions grew by a meagre 2.7 per cent YoY to 990.8 million and Bharat QR codes saw 7.48 per cent YoY growth to 6.72 million. Increased adoption of UPI for real time payments has been the contributing factor for the surge in UPI QR codes in the country and it is expected to rise even further as more people use UPI for their day-to-day transactions.

India offers zero-for-zero levy on auto parts, steel from US

India has proposed zero tariffs on steel, auto components and pharmaceuticals on a reciprocal basis up to a certain quantity of imports in its trade negotiations with the US, sources said.

Beyond this threshold, imported industrial goods would attract the regular level of duties, the people said, asking not to be identified as the discussions are private. The offer was made by Indian trade officials visiting Washington late last month to expedite negotiations on a bilateral trade deal expected by fall this year, the people said.

The two nations are prioritising certain sectors to strike an early trade deal before the end of the 90-day pause on US President Donald Trump's tariff-tat tariffs, the people said.

Amid a contraction in the US economy, Trump suggested Sunday that some trade deals could be sealed as soon as this week, offering the prospect of relief for trading partners seeking to avoid higher US import duties. Asian economies, including South Korea, Japan and India are among the nations leading the race for reaching interim deals with his administration.

An email to the Ministry of Commerce and Industry was not immediately answered.

Washington has also asked India to resolve its concerns around Quality Control Orders, which it considers a non-tariff trade barrier for its exports, the people said. The mandatory quality standards, which lay down benchmarks that both local and foreign manufacturers must meet before selling their goods in India, have been criticised for being non-transparent and unfair.
