We are pleased to announce, a groundbreaking joint venture (JV) with San Francisco-based Polyverse Inc, a technology company backed by Amazon and NVIDIA. Our collaboration aims to revolutionize the field of education by developing an AI-powered learning system featuring a character avatar. This innovative avatar will serve multiple roles, acting as a teacher, parent, and friend to promote learning engagement through a naturalistic approach. By motivating students to take a greater interest in their studies, this development promises to revolutionize the field of education. Designed to be user-friendly, the character avatar will seamlessly integrate with existing LMS platforms, enhancing interaction between teachers and students. As a pioneering initiative in the education industry, this avatar-based learning system will make learning more enjoyable and accessible for students, while enhancing their skills to perform better in all examinations. Ultimately, this venture will enable us to expand our existing business while transforming the educational landscape.

Thanking you,

Yours faithfully,

M.S. Savla
