From the arrival of Bappa to the immersion of this Ganeshotsav 2025, the Bhiwandi Municipal Corporation made precise planning to provide various services and facilities to the Ganesh devotees, and this festival was carried out smoothly. Bhiwandi Municipal Corporation is fully prepared to ensure that no service or facility is lacking during the Ganeshotsav period due to proper planning of all the departments concerned and proper coordination among various departments, informed the Administrator and Commissioner of the Municipal Corporation Shri

Last year, 193 Ganpati idols were immersed in artificial lakes. In comparison, this year, about 3.5 times more idols were immersed in artificial lakes. Ganesh devotees have also expressed satisfaction with the facilities of these artificial lakes and have also expressed their hope that this will increase further next year. At this time, one officer was appointed on each of the Ganesh arrival and immersion routes and two coordination officers were appointed on each of the immersion ghats. Due to all these arrangements, the Ganpati immersion took place very smoothly. Citizens also expressed their satisfaction with the facilities of the Municipal Corporation and gave their acknowledgement of the work.

As per tradition, the entire city of Bhiwandi was filled with the chants of Ganesh devotees, "Ganpati Bappa Morya, come early next year!!", and the people of Bhiwandi immersed their beloved Ganesha in an emotional atmosphere at the immersion ghats of Bhiwandi Municipal Corporation at Nadinaka-Tilak Ghat, Va-Haladevi at Va-Haladevi, Kamatghar, Fene, Bhadwad Lake, Narpoli and other lakes, bidding a heartfelt and devotional farewell to Lord Ganesha. Patna, Sept 7 (UNI) Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar today laid the foundation stone and inaugurated nine development projects worth Rs 558.35 crore in Siwan district.

Kumar initiated projects including construction of a 220/132/33 KV grid substation at Mairwa and associated line bays costing Rs 222.01 crore, widening of Pachrukhi Bypass from Mohammadpur Mor (NH-531) to Chhapia-Tedhi Ghat-Gopalpur (NH-227) road costing Rs 120.48 crore and construction of a rail overbridge on State Highway 89 (Babunia-Siswan Road) at level crossing No. 91 SPL between Siwan railway station and Pachrukhi railway station, costing Rs 92.16 crore. CAG pulls up Mizoram over abandoned Export-Import training centre

Aizawl, Sept 7 (UNI) : Mizoram's ambitious plan to establish an Export Import Business Training Centre (EIBTC) at Zuangtui has turned into a glaring example of financial mismanagement, with the Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG) criticising the state for spending Rs 4.39 crore on a project that remains incomplete even after more than a decade.

The centre was first proposed in 2010 under the Ministry of Commerce and Industry's ASIDE scheme, with the State Level Export Promotion Committee (SLEPC), headed by the chief secretary, tasked with implementing it. It was envisioned as a hub to provide entrepreneurs and students with specialised training in export-import operations, marketing strategies and quality control- a much-needed boost to the state's fragile economy.

But the CAG's performance audit paints a bleak picture. In June 2012, the Project Director of the Export Promotional Industrial Park Authority appointed a consultant firm within just two days, ignoring Rule 150 of the General Financial Rules, 2005, which requires open tendering. The consultancy, for a fee of Rs 30 lakh, estimated the project at Rs 6.25 crore, but crucially set no timeline for completion. Construction formally commenced in November 2012, and SLEPC allocated Rs 4.39 crore for the work. By October 2016, however, the entire amount had been spent, with the building only 70 per cent complete. The situation further deteriorated in 2015 when the Centre withdrew ASIDE from its budgetary support, leaving states to finance unfinished projects on their own.

The Bamboo Development Agency (BDA) sought Rs 2.21 crore in 2016 to bridge the shortfall, and later approached the North Eastern Council in 2022 and 2024 with requests amounting to Rs 3.11 crore. Yet, despite repeated appeals, the state government took no concrete action to mobilise funds. As a result, the EIBTC project has been at a standstill for nearly nine years. The half-built structure at Zuangtui not only symbolises wasted public money but also represents lost opportunities for entrepreneurs and young people who were supposed to benefit from its training programmes.

The audit concluded that the project was marred by irregular appointment of consultants, violation of tender norms, mismanagement of funds and failure to secure additional resources after ASIDE support was withdrawn.

Congress slams PM Manipur visit plan as 'insulting'

New Delhi, Sept 7 (UNI) The Congress today criticised Prime Minister Narendra Modi's likely visit to Manipur on September 13, calling it a "non-visit" and an "insult" to the people of the state.

In a post on X, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh called the proposed visit as a "rushed trip", which only reveals his callousness and insensitivity towards the people of Manipur.

"The proposed visit of the Prime Minister to Manipur on Sept 13 is being hailed by his cheerleaders. But it appears that he will be spending just about three hours, yes, just three hours in the state," Ramesh said. "This is actually an insult to the people of the state who have waited for him for 29 long and agonising months," the Rajya Sabha MP said.

Over 10 lakh youth to participate in 'NaMo Yuva Run' campaign to mark Modi's birthday

New Delhi, Sept 7 (UNI) The Bharatiya Janata Yuva Morcha (BJYM) today announced the launch of the 'NaMo Yuva Run - For a Nasha Mukta Bharat', a nationwide youth mobilisation and fitness campaign aimed at promoting a drug-free India.

The initiative forms a part of the annual Seva Pakhwada (September 17 to October 2). The campaign, being organised to mark Prime Minister Narendra Modi's birthday on September 17, is expected to engage over 10 lakh young participants across 100 locations in the country.

The campaign was formally launched here by Tejasvi Surya, National President of BJYM and Member of Parliament from Bangalore South, in the presence of union Minister for Youth Affairs and Sports, Mansukh Mandaviya, and fitness advocate Milind Soman, who has been appointed the National Run Ambassador for the event.

As part of the launch ceremony, the official campaign logo, mascot, T-shirt, and registration portal (www.namoyuvarun.com) were unveiled. BJYM officials said the event symbolises a broader youth movement that integrates fitness, civic responsibility, and substance abuse awareness under a common platform.

"Fitness is the foundation of a strong nation," said Mandaviya, noting that youth-led initiatives such as the NaMo Yuva Run serve to "encourage a lifestyle rooted in discipline and wellbeing, which are essential for national development."

The event is scheduled to culminate on September 21, when BJYM will coordinate 100 simultaneous runs across urban and semi-urban centres. Each event is expected to draw a minimum of 10,000 participants, making it one of the largest coordinated youth fitness campaigns undertaken by a political youth wing in India.

Addressing the gathering, Tejasvi Surya said the run is intended not merely as a fitness activity, but as a youth mobilisation strategy aligned with the broader vision of a Viksit Bharat by 2047, as articulated by the Prime Minister. He added that the initiative "seeks to inspire collective youth action against addiction, while reinforcing the role of fitness and civic discipline in nation-building."

In a lighter moment during the launch, Milind

Soman invited participants to take part in a push-up challenge and take selfies with those who completed it. Amandeep Singh, National Media In-Charge, BJYM said the NaMo Yuva Run is part of a broader slate of programmes under Seva Pakhwada, observed annually to commemorate the birth anniversary of the Prime Minister. The campaign will be followed by further youth-focused initiatives spanning public health, environmental awareness, and community outreach, he said.

Ramdas Athawale regrets, his workers not benefiting despite Mahayuti alliance

Buldhana, Sept 7 (UNI) union Minister of State for Social Justice and Empowerment Ramdas Athawale on Sunday expressed disappointment that workers of his Republican Party of India (A) have not gained any benefits despite the Mahayuti alliance being in power at both the Centre and the State.

Speaking to reporters during his visit to Buldhana, Athawale said, "My ministerial post has made workers happy, but they too should get opportunities."

He further said that he has already discussed the issue with Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, demanding that RPI be allotted at least two chairmanships of major corporations in the near future. He also urged that the one vacant ministerial berth in the Maharashtra cabinet be given to his party. Earlier, Athawale participated in various programmes in Shegaon and Buldhana, including an event marking the birth anniversary of folk poet Anna Bhau Sathé.

Sena MLA Sanjay Gaikwad, RPI (A) state working president Baburao Kadam and Vidarbha contact head Babasaheb Jadhav were present during the press interaction.

NCP-SP MLA Rohit Pawar criticizes crores spent on advertisement by CM, Fadnavis

Mumbai, Sept 7 (UNI) Nationalist Congress Party-Sharad Pawar (NCP-SP) MLA Rohit Pawar has alleged that the large-scale advertisements and hoardings featuring Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis on Ganesh Visarjan day were issued by alliance ministers without CM's knowledge.

He criticized the expenditure of crores on such publicity at a time when the state is facing multiple crises.

The advertisements, which prominently showed Fadnavis paying tribute to Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, sparked widespread debate. Many suggested the campaign was aimed at crediting the BJP for the suspension of the Maratha reservation agitation. This also forced Deputy CM Eknath Shinde to clarify that the government was not engaged in a "credit war."

Pawar pointed out that while farmers are committing suicides and heavy rains have created serious challenges, crores were being wasted on advertisements. "Who are the ministers behind such lavish spending? Where did such a huge fund come from? Those responsible must come forward and clarify," he demanded. He further questioned why the advertisements were anonymous, despite rules requiring the advertiser's name to be mentioned. "From where was the money arranged for these large-scale nameless advertisements? The concerned ministers must give an explanation," Pawar added.

According to police sources, the deceased was near Birsa Chowk under Ratu police station area when a group of assailants suddenly opened indiscriminate fire, killing him on the spot. Balma, who was also caught in the firing, sustained a bullet injury in his mouth, which got lodged in his jaw. He was rushed to CHC Ratu hospital and later referred to a higher medical centre as his condition remains critical. The incident triggered panic in the locality, with eyewitnesses describing the attack as "sudden and shocking". Police have started an investigation and intensified security in the area. Officials have assured that the assailants will be apprehended soon.

6 girls missing from Ulhasnagar home

Thane, Sept 7 (UNI) : Deputy Chairperson of the Legislative Council, Dr. Neelam Gorhe, has demanded urgent action following the disappearance of six girls from the Government Observation Home, Special Home for Girls in Ulhasnagar. Dr. Gorhe submitted a memorandum to the Thane Police Commissioner, urging a thorough investigation and strict action against those responsible. She highlighted that while three of the missing girls have been traced since the incident on August 27, 2025, three remain unaccounted for. Dr. Gorhe expressed grave concern over the safety of girls in state-run child care institutions, citing similar incidents in the past.

As immediate measures, she called for increased patrolling by vigilant women police officers, strict action against local traffickers and luring gangs, and enhanced coordination between the district administration and concerned institutions to implement concrete government level steps.

Copies of the memorandum have also been sent to the Minister for Women and Child Development, the Home Department Secretary, the Women and Child Development Department Secretary, and the Commissioner. Emphasizing the seriousness of the issue, Dr. Gorhe urged authorities to address the matter personally and resolve it at its root.

Ganesh Visarjan turns tragic in Maha: Drowning, electrocution claim several lives

Mumbai, Sept 7 (UNI) The sacred festival of Ganesh Visarjan turned tragic across Maharashtra as multiple incidents of death caused due to drowning and electrocution surfaced, casting a pall of grief over the festivities.

In Pune district, four people lost their lives in separate drowning incidents during immersion. At Waki Khurd, two youths drowned in the Bhama river — a 20-year-old student from Koyali and a 19-year-old youth from Uttar Pradesh.

While one body has been recovered, the search for the other continues. In separate incidents, one person drowned in a well at Biradwadi and another in the Bhima river near Shelpimpalgaon, the latter being a 45-year-old man.

At Biradwadi village in Chakan, an incident of a 36-year-old Sandesh Popat Nikam drowning in a well while immersing an idol was caught on the camera. Despite knowing how to swim, he lost his life while attempting to come out of the well. His body was later recovered by the NDRF team. In Nanded district, three men entered the Asna river at Gadegaon Shivar for immersion. One was rescued, but Balaji Ubale and Yogesh Ubale were swept away in the strong current. An SDRF team has launched a search operation, but both remain missing.

In Mumbai's Sakinaka area, a tragic electrocution claimed one life during an immersion procession of Shri Gajanan Mitra Mandal. The trolley carrying the idol came in contact with a high-tension 11,000-volt wire on Khairani Road. Binu Shivkumar (36) died on the spot, while five others: Tushar Gupta (18), Dharmaraj Gupta (44), Aarush Gupta (12), Shambhu Kami (20), and Karan Kanojia (14), sustained serious injuries and are undergoing treatment. In Shahapur taluka (Thane district), three youths were swept away in the Bhargavi river at Mundewadi during immersion. One was rescued by a local lifeguard team, but the search is still underway for Datta Lote, Pratik Jadhav, and Kuldeep Joker. These tragic incidents have overshadowed the otherwise joyous Ganesh festival, leaving families and communities in mourning.

OBC leaders to hold statewide meet over Gazetteer issue

Mumbai, Sept 7 (UNI) : After the state government issued an order implementing the Hyderabad Gazetteer, OBC organisations across Maharashtra have called a meeting on September 12 at Nagpur to decide their next course of action to safeguard OBC reservation. The agitation is expected to begin with a massive morcha (rally), and the battle will be fought both legally and through street protests, Congress leader and prominent OBC representative Vijay Wadetiwar announced.

The government's decision was announced after Maratha quota activist Manoj Jarange Patil launched an indefinite hunger strike in Mumbai, pressing for eight key demands, six of which were accepted by the state. Among them was the implementation of the Hyderabad Gazetteer, for which an official order has now been issued.

This move effectively brings the Maratha community under the Other Backward Classes (OBC) category. Initially, the government order stated that only eligible Marathas would receive Kunbi caste certificates. However, following objections from Maratha activists, the word "eligible" was removed. OBC leaders fear this change means the entire Maratha community could now be included in the OBC category. Currently, of the 27 per cent OBC reservation quota, 13% has already been allocated to smaller sub-groups, leaving only 14% for major OBC castes.

Wadetiwar warned that if Marathas, one of the largest communities in the state enter this category, existing OBC groups may be left with no effective share of the reservation. He further questioned the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), pointing out that its ideological parent, the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), has historically opposed caste-based reservations. "If the BJP is in power, how can we expect OBC reservations to remain untouched and protected?" Wadetiwar asked. He cautioned that failing to fight this battle in court would deliver a severe blow to OBC communities, warning that this move could ultimately wipe out the political existence of the OBC population in Maharashtra.

Stock market outlook: Key factors to watch next week

The coming week is expected to be crucial for Indian stock markets, with tariffs, inflation data, foreign institutional investor (FII) activity, and key global economic indicators likely to guide market direction.

On September 12, the government will release retail inflation figures. Retail inflation stood at 1.55 per cent in July -- reflecting the pace at which prices of goods are rising and offering insights into demand and supply conditions in the economy.

According to media reports, US President Donald Trump has signed an executive order granting tariff exemptions to trade partners that have entered industrial export agreements.

Starting Monday, key materials such as nickel, gold, pharmaceutical compounds, and chemicals will be exempt from tariffs.

Additionally, the US is set to release its inflation and jobless claims data next week, which could influence global markets.

The previous week was positive for Indian equities. The Nifty surged 314.15 points, or 1.29 per cent, to close at 24,741, while the Sensex advanced 901.11 points, or 1.13 per cent, to end at 80,710.76. Between September 1 and 5, sectoral indices such as Nifty Auto (up 5.45 per cent), Nifty Metal (up 5.75 per cent), Nifty Energy (up 1.96 per cent), Nifty PSU Bank (up 1.47 per cent), Nifty Commodity (up 2.52 per cent), and Nifty Consumption (up 2.58 per cent) emerged as top gainers.

The only laggard was the Nifty IT index, which slipped 1.55 per cent.

FIIs continued their selling spree last week, offloading equities worth Rs 5,666.90 crore, while domestic institutional investors (DIIs) provided support with net purchases of Rs 13,444.09 crore. Commenting on market trends, Sudeep Shah of SBI Securities, said Nifty witnessed significant volatility last week with gap-up or gap-down openings in all five sessions. However, on a weekly basis, the index looks bullish. According to him, the resistance zone for Nifty lies between 24,950–25,000, while support is expected in the 24,550–24,500 range. Ajit Mishra of Religare Broking Limited also said that the Nifty rebounded from a low of 24,400, slightly above the previous swing low of 24,337.5, but continues to consolidate within a triangle pattern marked by lower highs at 25,153.65 (August 21) and 24,980.75 (September 4).

“A decisive breakout above 25,000 could trigger fresh momentum, taking the index toward 25,250 and then 25,400,” Mishra added.

REMNANTS OF EUGENICS IN BLUE JEANS

(By Kalpana Pandey)

The clothing retail company 'American Eagle' released an advertisement on July 23, 2025, featuring the young actress Sydney Sweeney. This company, which was operating at a loss, attempted to attract its young female customer base by featuring Sweeney, who has fair skin, blonde hair, and blue eyes. In American Eagle's advertising campaign, the catch line "Sydney Sweeney Has Great Jeans" was used. This campaign played on the homophones Genes and "jeans" (denim pants). In it, Sydney says, "Genes are passed from parents to offspring, determining characteristics like hair color, personality, and even eye color." In the advertisement, as the camera moves from her denim jeans and jacket to her face and eyes, she says, "My Genes (jeans) are blue." (Meaning, that's why her eyes are blue). The advertisement employed wordplay with "good jeans," playing on jeans (clothing) and genes (genetic traits).

Gradually, this advertisement began appearing everywhere on TikTok, Instagram, and YouTube. It caught the attention of netizens. Criticism started pouring in. Genes are passed from parents to the next generation, but what was the need to mention this in a jeans advertisement? Why was it said that "my jeans are blue" by showing blue eyes instead of focusing the camera on the jeans clothing? Such questions led this controversy towards accusations of eugenics. Further, large-scale allegations of Nazism and racist advertising began to emerge. Within a few days, the advertisement was withdrawn. However, in those few days, American Eagle's share prices (NYSE: AEO) rose by 24% after the campaign was announced. This was their largest increase since the year 2000. The discussion grew so much that the success of this advertisement was compared to Brooke Shields' commercials for Calvin Klein in the 1980s. In stores, Sydney Sweeney's jeans sold out rapidly.

However, the discussion on this position of white people is in danger. Trump has repeatedly referred to the Black Lives Matter movement as anarchic or thuggish, while considering violent protesters like those at Charlottesville's 'Unite the Right' as within the bounds of law. The Republican Party is recognized as the party of white people afflicted by the sentiment that "the social status of white people is declining." Therefore, Sydney being a Republican voter, doing a white supremacist advertisement, and when criticized for it, the President, Vice President, and the President's office of the world's most powerful country like America defending her—this is not unrelated.

White House spokesperson Steven Cheung mocked the ongoing criticism of this advertisement as "cancel culture run amok," meaning cancel culture has crossed limits. Right-wing people criticize it as "woke" extremism means cancel culture is running in such an extreme form that even the slightest mistake leads to large-scale negative reactions. According to the White House spokesperson, people have overinterpreted it and run an unnecessary boycott campaign against Sydney Sweeney and the jeans brand. Therefore, this matter was called "cancel culture run amok"—

On the other hand, this advertisement is being criticized for watering the remnants of eugenics. 'American Eagle' putting Sydney Sweeney's statement that her jeans are 'blue' (eye color) in the category of 'good jeans' advertisement can be seen. "Good jeans" is a phrase commonly used in today's time to appreciate someone's physical beauty or attractiveness. However, behind this seemingly simple sentence lies a complex, horrifying reference connected to a dark chapter in history. That are eugenics—the concept of selectively controlling human reproduction to enhance "desirable" traits, meaning selective breeding. It emerged in the 19th century and became popular in the 20th century. It was carried out under the name of 'improvement of the human race,' but it remained linked to racism, discrimination, and coercive policies. Eugenics ideas played a significant role in increasing racial hatred. This discriminatory thought provided scientific basis to already existing social prejudices, strengthening them at institutional and social levels. Eugenics was once a concept that came forward at the level of science and politics. However, due to its close associations with racial superiority, forced sterilization, and Nazism, today this concept is completely rejected. Nevertheless, reflections of what are considered "proper," "pure," and "attractive" traits from its underlying ideology still appear in subtle forms in the world of media and advertisements.

To understand why Donald Trump is taking the side of this advertisement, his policies should be examined. Since January, the President has imposed a national emergency on the shared border with Mexico, denied entry to asylum seekers, authorized aggressive policies for self-deportation, and increased pressure on third-world countries regarding deportation. He did not stop there. Steps to cancel diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) initiatives have created concern. The administration has gone beyond its mainly white, conservative, MAGA voter base. President Trump told his supporters at rallies that they have "good genes." Last October, he said that illegal immigrants who commit murder have "bad genes." On the campaign trail, the President claimed that illegal immigrants are "poisoning the blood of our country," language that directly echoes Adolf Hitler's 1925 autobiography, Mein Kampf. Such language has been approved by two-thirds of Republican voters nationwide, according to a University of Massachusetts poll in October 2024. In recent years, conservative critics from TV host Tucker Carlson to billionaire CEO Elon Musk have also leaned into the controversial Great Replacement Theory, created by French writer Renaud Camus in 2010. According to the theory, white Americans are at risk of becoming a minority and losing their jobs to non-white immigrants. The Republican Party claimed in the 2024 election campaign that the Democratic Party is importing immigrants to win elections. Currently, American politics is reaching new lows every day.

The subtle shadow of eugenics persists. In media and advertising, qualities like "beautiful, pure, attractive" are still shown as "good genes." Although eugenics has been rejected, the discriminatory seeds in its underlying ideology are still alive in society. "Good genes" is a casually spoken word in today's time, but behind it lies the horrifying legacy of eugenics. This movement, popularized in the name of science, gave legitimacy to racism, ableism, misogyny, and social injustice. Millions underwent forced sterilization, minorities faced inhuman atrocities, and it provided ideological basis for the Nazi genocide. Even today, when concepts like "good genes" are used in politics or media, it is necessary to remember this background. Science should be used for human equality, not for discrimination and racial superiority. The history of eugenics reminds us of this very danger. The blue jeans advertisement is precisely a remnant of eugenics.

Jharkhand Minister pledges eye donation, urges citizens to join the cause

Ranchi, Sept 7 (UNI) : Jharkhand Finance Minister and senior Congress leader Radhakrishna Kishore today pledged to donate his eyes, making an emotional appeal to his family members not to obstruct the process when the time comes.

“I have pledged my eyes. When I am no more, and a medical team comes to take my cornea, please do not stop them,” he said, addressing his kin from the stage at St Xavier’s College auditorium here.

Highlighting the acute shortage of corneas in India, medical experts at the event said that while nearly one crore people die every year, only around 50,000 pledge their eyes. Against the requirement of 2.5 crore corneas nationwide, merely 50,000 become available annually, leaving millions in darkness.

Kishore, who attended the “Blindfolded Run for Vision” programme, urged people across Jharkhand to come forward for this “life-giving act.” “When you are no longer in this world, someone else will see through your eyes. The very thought is deeply fulfilling,” he said, while stressing the need for the government and society to treat health initiatives like eye donation as a collective priority.

Moving beyond the medical context, the finance minister linked the idea of vision with social equality. “I am not an eye specialist, but as a public representative, I believe governance should have the same vision for everyone. Who is forward or backward, high or low, these divisions must not influence policy. The system should see every citizen equally,” he said.

Speakers at the event also noted that several eminent figures, including President Droupadi Murmu, former chief ministers Babulal Marandi and Arjun Munda, have pledged their eyes, thereby setting an example for others to follow.

CM Khandu launches Arunachal 'Kiwi Mission 2025–2035'

Itanagar, Sept 7 (UNI) : Arunachal Pradesh Chief Minister Pema Khandu on Sunday launched the ambitious 'Arunachal Pradesh Kiwi Mission 2025–2035', a decade-long roadmap to transform the Northeastern state into India's leading organic Kiwi producer.

The launch event, held at Ziro, Lower Subansiri district, was attended by Agriculture and Horticulture Minister Gabriel D Wangsu, Cabinet colleagues, and MLAs, along with kiwi growers from 13 districts.

Speaking on the occasion, the Chief Minister said, “Arunachal Pradesh is underway with a bold vision—to make our land synonymous with Kiwi, just as Tea is to Assam. This mission is about empowering our farmers, embracing sustainable practices, and putting Arunachal on the global map for high-quality organic produce.”

As part of the Mission, Model Kiwi Orchards are being established in 13 districts, with the picturesque Ziro Valley emerging as the central hub of this farming revolution. CM Khandu also interacted with kiwi growers from across the districts, appreciating their insights and experiences that will shape sustainable farming and farmer welfare initiatives under the programme.

Adding further momentum to the Mission, the Chief Minister laid the foundation stone for the Centre of Excellence for Kiwi Fruit at Kardo, Lower Subansiri district. The upcoming centre will include facilities for protected cultivation, a hi-tech nursery, mother and demonstration blocks, R&D, post-harvest management, value-addition, and farmer training. Khandu said the centre would boost kiwi cultivation, support farmers with modern technology and practices, strengthen the local economy, and position Arunachal Pradesh as a key kiwi-producing region in the country and beyond.

Typhoon Peipah leaves 24 wounded in central Japan prefecture

Tokyo, Sept. 7 (UNI) : Tropical Storm Peipah has left 24 people wounded and 40 houses damaged in four municipalities in the central Japanese prefecture of Shizuoka, local media reported.

Early on Friday afternoon, the city government in Makinohara received reports of tiles being blown off roofs by strong winds, utility poles collapsing and other incidents, public broadcaster NHK reported.

The most harm to humans occurred in Makinohara, including three people who were severely wounded and 20 others sustaining light injuries.

Meanwhile, an agricultural greenhouse was blown away by strong winds in Yaizu City, leaving a farmer in his 40s with a severe facial fracture, the report said.

Chubu Electric Power Grid Co. said about 17,000 homes in Makinohara and elsewhere were hit with power outages at one point in the prefecture due to the influence of a tornado and strong winds.

Damage from wind gusts has also been confirmed in Kakegawa and Yaizu cities, and Yoshida Town in the prefecture. Local authorities are confirming details of the damage, the report said.

The year's 15th typhoon made landfall twice in western Japan earlier on Friday and then moved eastward along Japan's Pacific coast before turning into an extratropical depression on Friday night.

Earthquake death toll in Afghanistan expected to rise : IFRC

Geneva, Sept 7 (UNI) : The number of victims from earthquakes in Afghanistan is expected to rise in the coming days, as new tremors have caused additional road destruction and landslides, complicating rescue efforts, Joy Singhal, the head of the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC) delegation in Afghanistan, told Sputnik.

Approximately 40 mobile medical and rescue teams are currently operating in Afghanistan, while local authorities have allocated several helicopters to evacuate people to nearby hospitals, Singhal said. However, these efforts are not sufficient to address the crisis, because the teams cannot reach all affected locations, he said.Due to a lack of funding, IFRC teams in Afghanistan have been forced to reduce staff and disband some volunteers, Singhal added, urging to provide the IFRC with additional personnel and medical equipment. The issue is not only about the post-earthquake recovery but also about the future livability of these areas, as many families have lost their livestock, drinking water sources have been damaged, with homes being destroyed, he said.

Singhal also urged the entire international community to support Afghanistan. While more and more people arrive in Afghanistan from Pakistan and Iran, the population of the country faces such issues as malnutrition and extreme levels of food insecurity, which creates additional vulnerability and challenges for humanitarian workers, he said.A 6.0 magnitude earthquake shook eastern Afghanistan around midnight on August 31. It was followed by aftershocks. On Thursday, the Ariana News portal reported that the death toll from the earthquake in Afghanistan exceeded 2,200, with over 3,600 people injured.

Prince Harry's UK return rekindles hopes of royal reconciliation amid charity pledge

London, Sept 7 (UNI) : The Duke of Sussex will return to Britain this week to unveil a major donation to Children in Need, underscoring his continued philanthropic commitments while fueling speculation over a possible reconciliation with King Charles III.

On Tuesday, Prince Harry will visit the Community Recording Studio (CRS) in Nottingham, a pioneering organisation that empowers disadvantaged young people through music, film and digital media. There, he will not only reveal his donation but also engage with Children in Need, local partners and young participants in private discussions before attending performances and delivering remarks.

His visit begins on Monday in London at the annual WellChild Awards, a cause he has championed for 17 years. "I am always privileged to attend the WellChild Awards and meet the incredible children, families and professionals who inspire us all with their strength and spirit," he said, announcing his return to the UK.

He will also hold a private briefing with Children in Need, the Police and Crime Commission, CRS and Epic Partners, and will have informal meetings with some of the young people he has met previously, reports BBC.

The duke will also watch live performances from artists, and make a short speech.

Buckingham Palace has not commented on the possibility of a meeting between the King and the duke during this trip. Nor has Harry and Meghan's team. But recently, there have been signs that tensions between father and son are easing, and that a reconciliation could be within reach.

His father was in Italy on a state visit during the prince's April trip to London.

This time, the King will be in the UK. He has spent most of the summer in Scotland at his Balmoral Estate but is regularly travelling south for cancer treatment and some royal engagements. It leaves open the real possibility of father and son meeting in person.

Air Canada flight attendants vote against airline's wage offer

Ottawa, Sept. 7 (UNI) Air Canada flight attendants on Saturday overwhelmingly voted against the airline's wage offer, their union said.

According to the Canadian union of Public Employees, 99.1 percent of members rejected a tentative agreement which offers a 12 percent salary increase for most junior flight attendants and an 8 percent bump for more senior members.

Air Canada said in a separate statement that both sides had agreed to refer the wage issue to mediation if the tentative deal was rejected, and to arbitration if mediation failed.

The parties also agreed that no labor disruption could be initiated, and therefore there will be no strike or lockout, and flights will continue to operate.

Police said that the incident is not being treated as suspicious.

Sydney Airport said in a statement that support services have been made available to all staff at the

"Our thoughts are with the worker's family, friends and colleagues during this incredibly difficult time," it said. "We are working to support the airline and relevant authorities as they investigate the incident."

There were no disruptions to passenger flights.

Qantas said that the man was not employed by the airline but that it would work closely with relevant authorities and provide support to all those affected.

Workplace health and safety authorities were notified about the incident, and a report will be prepared for the coroner.

13 officers injured at rallies in Serbia, 42 protesters detained : Interior Ministry

Belgrade, Sept 7 (UNI) Thirteen police officers were injured at protests in Serbia's Novi Sad on Friday night, and 42 demonstrators were detained, Serbian Deputy Prime Minister and Interior Minister Ivica Dacic said on Saturday.

On Friday night, Serbian President Aleksandar Vucic said that 11 police officers were injured at a protest in Novi Sad, and that dozens of rioters would be detained. Over 7,000 people rallied in the protest action that began at the faculty of philosophy of the local university on Friday evening.

"There were 13 injured police officers. Over the past few weeks, since the demonstrations have become violent, very aggressive towards the police, unprovoked by the police ... more than 150 police officers have been injured," Dacic told Radio Television of Serbia in an interview.

The demonstrators used sticks, rods, paint, pyrotechnics, flares and wore helmets and masks, the minister said. "Forty-two people have been detained, what the prosecutor's office will do with them is not up to us. Eighteen police cars were damaged. One service pistol was taken from a policeman," he said.

The Serbian authorities' opponents gathered several thousand people in Novi Sad on Friday evening for a rally "Serbia, do you hear us?" at the building of the Faculty of Philosophy, in front of which a police cordon was built.

Student and opposition protests began in Serbia after the collapse of a canopy at the Novi Sad railway station on November 1, 2024, killing 16 people. The situation in Serbian cities escalated in mid-August. As protesters became more agitated during the late hours, they became more confrontational towards law enforcement officers, barricading and blocking access roads. In August, Vucic said that he was not considering introducing a state of emergency in Serbia. Vucic has also said that the September 1 protests had gathered 16,000-17,000 people in Serbia and that he was offering dialogue to the protesters.

Career&tech

False flattery at work can ruin your Career

Sycophancy may get you noticed but it will do no wonders for your career in the long run. ?

leaders realise their mistake and take corrective actions, or become hugely unpopular and ineffective in the organisation." Harvey Deutschendorf, author of 'The Other Kind of Smart: Simple Ways to Boost Your Emotional Intelligence for Greater Personal Effectiveness and Success' tells us why professionals adopt sycophancy, "People may have started out with the notion that talent and abilities will be recognised when it comes to promotions, but then they witnessed others who they see as less capable but more pleasing to their superiors being chosen above them. As a result of observing this, they may have come to see sycophancy as being the path of least resistance and the easiest way to get ahead."

Undeserved promotions are the most critical consequence of sycophantic employees. Vivian Fernandes, HR head, Opus Consulting, explains, "As bosses, it may sometimes be difficult to see the right picture immediately, but with experience, it becomes easy to understand who is a sycophant and who the real hard workers are. If an organisation has clearly chartered out the parameters KRAs for promotions and does stringent reference checks, such situations of unwarranted promotions can be avoided." Rajiv Burman, managing partner, Lighthouse Partners gives some tips on dealing with sycophantic peers, so as to not let them dictate one's behaviour or career: Firstly, it is important to recognise that there is no point in talking to the sycophantic peers as they behave in the manner that they do because they think it gets them brownie points from the boss. The best step is to talk to your boss in a non-confrontational way with facts and figures about your performance and express your disappointment that a lesser deserving peer has been given preferential treatment. If this does not work, then seek a meeting with the skip-level boss; if this too fails, then talk to the HR manager. If none of these measures bring favourable results, then it is best to look for another job. Thus, it is important for an organisation to encourage a merit-based culture, rather than sycophancy among their employees.

Every workplace has its share of sycophantic employees; these are the people who use tools like flattery, deference and obsequiousness towards their superiors to accelerate their careers. They build a special relationship with their bosses and utilise the same to create an unwarranted, elevated place for themselves in the organisation. Udit Mittal, MD, Unison International tells us the potential effects on one's career if one is surrounded by sycophantic peers, "Being surrounded by sycophants might bring negative effects to one's career because there is a possibility of remaining unnoticed by seniors in the bleak environment created by flattery. Sycophancy creates emotional disturbances and eventually affects performance." As bosses, it is important for professionals to not be susceptible to sycophancy from their juniors. Chitbhanu Nagri, global head HR, Tavant Technologies, explains, "For leaders who want to achieve overnight success, sycophants act like 'fuel to fire'; they create an illusion of grandeur and make them believe that everything is hale and hearty. Leaders rationalise this as the organisational sentiment, get defensive when they hear divergent views and ultimately, the ones with differing views either distance themselves or move on to take up other opportunities. Sycophants can use this opportunity to get a larger share of the pie. However, reality catches up soon; either the

Lethargic employees can not only affect a team's output, but also individual attitudes towards work. Lalitha balsubramanian shares tips on how leaders can re-align the focus of such workers and improve their performance

How to deal with lethargic Employees

Very often, employees have to endure colleagues who spend time lazing around or talking endlessly on their cell phones during office hours.

Besides being a source of irritation, their laziness could sometimes dampen the congenial atmosphere at the workplace.

Impact on team

Additionally, such workers can make an otherwise efficient team under perform. Says Kala R, an employee with a leading financial consultancy firm, "In processes where projects are supposed to be completed by a team, the major pre-requisites for success is teamwork, cooperation and mutual understanding between colleagues, and shirking any of these responsibilities by even one member can cause the project to fail."

It is usually the team leader who bears the brunt of the issue, as such problems may not be as easily solvable as lodging a complaint with the senior management. Such exercises tend to create a sense of apprehension among team members and dampens the cordial atmosphere at the office. So, how do you deal with such colleagues?

Key concerns

Advises K Ramakrishnan, vice president, Hazira Central Services, Larsen & Toubro Ltd, "It is imperative to communicate to the employee that the interest of the organisation is paramount. Arranging a meeting with the employee and senior members of the group is one of the best ways to deal with such a situation. He she must be given appropriate feedback about how their attitude is impacting the team's efficiency. It is also equally important to assure the employee of any help they may require." However VR Ganapathi, retired senior manager, Andhra Bank, offers a counter view, "Many a time, a colleague could face genuine issues in executing the tasks entrusted to him/her. Many are hesitant to express their discomfort in the presence of other team members. Hence, confronting such workers should be done in private and steps should be taken to either clear their doubts and apprehensions while also allowing them to switch to other projects if the scope to do so exists."

Remotivate the employee

Ganapathi says, "A good way to realign an employee's focus towards work is by illustrating the achievements of the organisation's top executives who have reached their present positions through sheer hard work. This could motivate the reluctant worker to show renewed interest at work."

However, most efforts to remotivate employees who give into laziness crash when one fails to gauge the worker's response to such initiatives. Even a slight change in their attitude or productivity can signal success. According to Ramakrishnan, "If the member does step up and do a good job, the leader must recognise his/her efforts. A positive response is often appreciated and acts as a motivator. A weekly or monthly review of his/her work could further improve a lazy worker's performance."

Lend them a ear

Many a time, those who work sincerely, suddenly start showing signs of negligence. However, it may not be advisable to dismiss their under productivity as laziness. Personal issues, such as caring for ailing parents or tending to their own health problems are often a cause for an apparent disenchantment from work. Lending a ear to their problems and counselling them can relieve their tension and bring their focus back to the job at hand. tions, it is time for strict actions. Inform the senior management of such colleague's behaviour and illustrate instances where their negligence has impacted their work.

However, be sure to back your claims with evidence.

Concludes Ramakrishnan, "If you are the boss, or the team leader, deal with the situation by giving them a clear message --perform or perish--as the organisation cannot afford to suffer due to one employee's negligence."

Preparing for a new role at a new office is both exciting and intimidating. The enthusiasm of starting something new, establishing fresh credentials as an add-on to one's existing achievements, meeting new people and gathering new experiences is undebatable. The intimidation often comes from not knowing the everyday work culture, the fear of being judged by existing employees, the uncertainty of how the organisation and you for jobs. In such a case, it is easy to talk to the people who have informed you about the opening as well as existing employees to get some first-hand information about the work culture. For places, where you don't know anyone personally, online forums and social media groups are good arenas to begin with. One may get insights from existing or previous employees who are often willing to share information."

Accept the environment and people

While prior research can be a great place to start, the real adventure of adjusting to a new place only begins on entering the office. Keep an eye out for the enthusiastic popular colleague who is willing to introduce you to any and every other employee. In case that does not happen and you are left with an employee handbook or organisational processes handouts to study before any real human interaction takes place, accept the scenario. Not having expectations can be helpful. Most organisations conduct induction sessions for new employees. Make sure to attend one to not only to understand the organisation's goals, but also clarify your doubts on everyday procedures and protocols. Who knows, you may also end up making new friends among the other joiners.

Avoid comparisons

Trying to seek all the positives one had at the old workplace or drawing comparisons is a strict no-no. Seeking interactions is a must, be it with colleagues in the next cubicle, on the lunch table or even with one's own team leaders/seniors. Interacting with colleagues and people around will help you build a network in office. Advises Nandini Saraf, who recently joined a publishing house as a copy editor, "In spite of knowing that some of the friendships you form during your initial days will not last long, it is important to make friends from day one. You need to mingle and avoid being alone. Your new friends will give you a clear picture of how things are. At times, they may also become your go-to buddies when you are given a whole lot of work that you are initially not well acquainted with."

Be honest

Lastly, the traditional advice of being honest, acknowledging mistakes, asking questions, taking notes, dressing well, etc, holds true even today. To sum up, adjusting to a new role takes some time. All you need is to be patient with the processes and people around.

Familiarising oneself with a new workplace is akin to finding one's way through a maze. here are a few steps that can help you settle in at your new office.

teams work and whether one would fit in. Clearly, settling and adjusting well when moving in to a new workplace is an adventure with a few hiccups.

So how does one take steps to familiarise oneself with the new work environment?

Connect with employees

It pays to be better-informed before joining the workplace. Says Naresh Garg, AVP, Grex Alternative Investments Private Ltd, "Doing some prior research on the organisation you will be joining makes it easier to adapt to the culture of the place. It helps one prepare for any surprises that may crop up." He adds, "Just like in my case, often friends refer

Sadhguru, Uthappa call to bring sports back to villages

Bengaluru, Sept 7 (UNI) : Sadhguru, accompanied by former Indian cricketer Robin Uthappa, called for bringing sports back to villages to make rural life playful and joyous, at the Karnataka Regional Finals of Isha Gramotsavam held at Sadhguru Sannidhi here today.

"Isha Gramotsavam is about raising the human spirit in rural India. The conditions there are such that traditional aspects of entertainment and involvement are gone. We want to bring back sport and make villagers playful so that the burdens of their life can be carried lightly," said Sadhguru, addressing a gathering of enthusiastic rural participants.

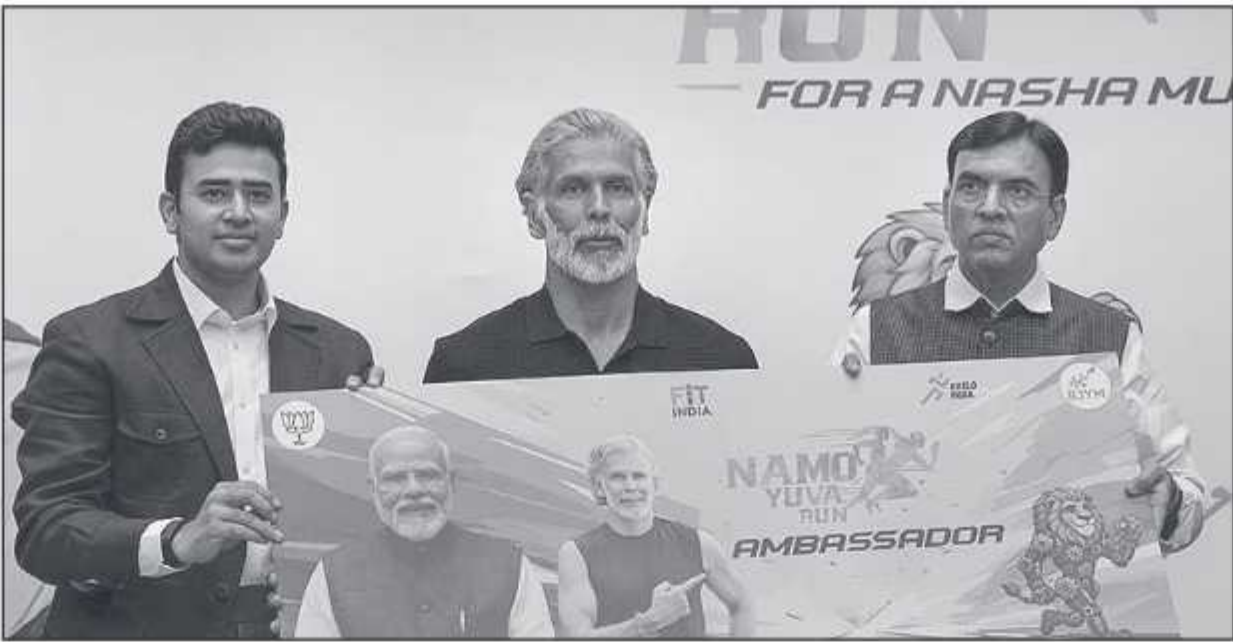

India's largest rural sports festival, Isha Gramotsavam, conducted across Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Puducherry, and for the first time in Odisha, celebrates the rural spirit by enabling farmers, daily wage earners, and women householders to participate in sports, fostering joy, community bonding, and healthy competition. The divisional matches, held simultaneously in Karnataka, Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, and Odisha, saw state winners and runners-up advance to the Grand Finale at the 112-ft Adiyogi at Isha Yoga Center, Coimbatore, where the national champions will be crowned. In Men's Volleyball, Team Ibbani from Heggadihalli, Bangalore Rural, defeated Team Appu Boys from Marasanahalli Panchayat, Chikkaballapur Rural, while in Women's Throwball, Team Black Panthers from Maragodu, Kodagu, overcame Team Shasthara Padumale (Kudla Strikers) from Badagannuru, Dakshina Kannada. Regional winners received ₹12,000 each, while runners-up were awarded ₹8,000. National champions will share a prize pool of ₹67 lakh, with ₹5 lakh each for the men's and women's titleholders.

Launched by Sadhguru in 2004, Isha Gramotsavam has emerged as a force for social transformation—helping villagers overcome addictions, break caste barriers, empower women, and revive rural playfulness. Teams must consist of players from the same village panchayat, strengthening local pride and community bonds.

Nationally, the festival spans over 35,000 villages with more than 50,000 participants, including 5,000 women, forming over 6,000 teams.

Isha Outreach, organiser of the event, is recognised as a National Sports Promotion Organisation (NSPO) by the Ministry of Youth Affairs & Sports. The initiative received the Rashtriya Khel Protsahan Puraskar in 2018 for promoting grassroots sports.

India claim gold in men's compound team at World Archery

Gwangju (South Korea), Sept 7 (UNI) : India achieved a historic breakthrough at the World Archery Championships today, as the men's compound team delivered a golden performance by defeating France 235-233 in a nail-biting final, clinching the country's maiden gold medal in the category.

The victorious team of Rishabh Yadav, Aman Saini and Pratham Fuge overcame stiff challenges on their way to the title, displaying grit and composure under pressure. Despite trailing 57-59 after the first set in the final, the Indian trio held their nerve and consistently scored to edge out the French side of Nicolas Girard, Jean Philippe Boulch and François Dubois. The result capped a remarkable run where India came from behind in every round of the knockout stages.

After receiving a bye in the opening round, India edged past Australia in a dramatic shoot-off 232(30)-232(28), narrowly beat the USA 234-233 in the quarterfinals, and staged another comeback against Türkiye in the semifinals, winning 234-232. The triumph marked a watershed moment for Indian archery, as the compound men's team had never previously reached the summit at the Worlds.

For Rishabh Yadav, the tournament proved doubly special. Making his World Championships debut at the age of 23, he was India's standout performer in qualification, finishing eighth with 709 points. Carrying that momentum, Rishabh partnered seasoned campaigner Jyothi Surekha Vennam in the mixed compound event to secure a silver medal, further underlining his rising stature. The Indian duo of Rishabh and Jyothi, seeded third, displayed dominance en route to the final, defeating Germany 160-152, El Salvador 157-153 and Chinese Taipei 157-155. In the title clash against the Netherlands, they took an early 39-38 lead after the first set but faltered in the later rounds to go down 155-157, settling for silver.

The mixed team event holds added significance as it is set to make its Olympic debut at Los Angeles 2028, making India's podium finish an encouraging sign for the future. For Jyothi, 29, this was her second silver medal in the mixed team event at the World Championships, having earlier finished runner-up with Abhishek Verma at Yankton in 2021.

However, she endured disappointment in the women's compound team competition, where the third-seeded Indian trio of Jyothi, Parneet Kaur and Prithika Pradeep crashed out 229-233 to 14th seeds Italy in the pre-quarterfinals, ending hopes of retaining their crown from Berlin 2023. The ongoing World Archery Championships in Gwangju have attracted around 500 archers from 74 countries and territories, all vying for the honour of world champion. The event will run until September 11, with the Indian contingent already assured of having left a significant mark on the tournament's history.

Chennai, Sept 7 (UNI) After restricting Title holders Hyderabad to 376, TNCA President's XI openers S Radhakrishnan and R Vimal Kumar, who scored half centuries each, made a strong and promising start in quest of gaining the crucial first innings lead at close on the second day of the four-day final in the All India Buchibabu cricket tournament here today.

Scotland part ways with head coach Doug Watson

Edinburg, Sept 7 (UNI) Doug Watson has left his role as head coach of the Scotland's men's team after serving in the role for two years. Cricket Scotland took the decision after a review of recent results, subsequent planning around future fixtures and allocation of budget.

He was initially appointed on an interim basis in March 2023 ahead of the ICC Men's Cricket World Cup Qualifier in Zimbabwe, where he led Scotland to notable success by defeating three full-member sides. He later guided the team to victory at the ICC Men's T20 World Cup Europe Qualifier in July 2023. Cricket Scotland Chief Executive Trudy Lindblade reflected on Watson's impact on the national side.

"We are grateful for Doug's commitment since joining Cricket Scotland in 2023 and the positive impact he has had on the team's performance and culture, but as we plan for 2026 and beyond, it became clear that a change was needed," Lindblade said.

In early 2024, he was appointed to the role on a permanent basis, and under his leadership Scotland impressed in the ICC Men's T20 World Cup 2024, defeating Namibia and Oman, and narrowly missing out on qualification for the Super Eights.

Recently, Scotland were a part of the European

Archa, Radhika shine as U-19 Girls set early pace in UTT National Ranking TT

New Delhi, Sept 7 (UNI) : The 2nd UTT National Ranking Table Tennis Championships opened on a competitive note at the Thyagaraj Stadium today, with the Under-19 Girls' qualification rounds taking centre stage. The first day set the tone for the eight-day-long event, showcasing not just the dominance of the seeded players but also the resilience and fighting spirit of the lesser-known names eager to make a mark.

While most group toppers eased through their opening rounds, the day's play was peppered with drama, extended battles, and a few surprise results. Delhi's Archa Jain emerged as one of the standout performers, showing composure and tactical maturity in her second-round clash against Bengal's Pritha Talukdar. After conceding the opening game, Archa fought back to register a 5-11, 11-6, 8-11, 11-8, 11-2 victory in Group 3. However, the Delhi paddler faces a stern test tomorrow against Maharashtra's Hardee Patel, who had earlier defeated her convincingly in straight games. Hardee, who has already looked sharp in the group stages, will fancy her chances of securing the top spot with a win over Pritha.

For the home crowd, local girl Sandhya Kumari added cheer by grinding out an 11-6, 8-11, 5-11, 11-5, 11-9 win over Pondicherry's S. Shivasri. Sandhya's ability to hold her nerve in the decider reflected the fighting attitude that defined much of the day's action. Elsewhere, Haryana's Tanmayee Saha overcame a spirited effort from Maharashtra's Anoushka Patil, recovering in time to clinch the decider 11-7 for a 3-2 win. Delhi's Tushti Sood also displayed her promise, edging Bengal's Snigdha Das in a nail-biting five-gamer, while Kerala's Dhaani Jain scored back-to-back wins to put herself in a strong position for the knockouts.

GST Reforms Bring Big Relief to Middle Class, Will Infuse New Energy into the Economy: Ashwini Vaishnaw

(Standard Post Bureau)

Mumbai, Sept 7 : In a major step on the financial front, the Central Government has introduced comprehensive reforms in the Goods and Services Tax (GST), providing significant relief to citizens, particularly middle-class families. Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, in a press conference, said that under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, this decision will not only reduce day-to-day expenses but also accelerate the country's economy.

Vaishnaw explained that earlier, reforms in income tax had provided exemption on income up to 12 lakh. Now, by reducing and simplifying GST rates, middle-class households will gain substantial benefits. He said that from basic essentials such as food, clothing, and housing to electronic products like televisions, refrigerators, mobile phones, power banks, and solar panels, the tax burden on almost every household item has been reduced.

Highlighting the broader impact, he stated that India's GDP is around 1330 lakh crore, of which consumption accounts for 1202 lakh crore. IFGST relief leads to even a 10% rise in consumption, it could generate an additional 120 lakh crore in GDP. Increased production will drive employment growth and strengthen investment.

The Union Minister emphasized that savings in the hands of middle-class families will increase. These savings will either go into deposits, higher purchases, or investments. All three activities, he noted, will boost the economy and initiate a "positive cycle."

To ensure the message reaches rural and common consumers, the party and government will run a large-scale campaign through village gatherings, public meetings, and media outreach.

Speaking specifically on electronics manufacturing, Vaishnaw highlighted that in the past 11 years, production in this sector has grown sixfold and exports eightfold. Today, around 25 lakh people are employed in the industry, and India now manufactures everything from mobile phones to batteries and chips. Semiconductor and API (pharma) manufacturing has also begun in the country.

He assured that all industry associations have committed to passing on GST benefits directly to consumers.

The Finance Minister has also made it clear that strict action will be taken against companies that fail to transfer these benefits.

Vaishnaw concluded by saying that this reform is not merely about simplifying the tax structure but marks a new chapter in the journey toward Atmanirbhar Bharat (self-reliant India) and economic growth.

१०० कोटींची जागा खरेदी

फडणवीसांच्या जाहिरातीवर ४०-५० कोटी खर्च झाल्याचा संजय राऊत यांचा सवाल!

नवी दिल्ली, दि. ७ (वृत्तसंस्था): पंतप्रधान नरेंद्र मोदी ९ सप्टेंबर रोजी पूरग्रस्त पंजाबला भेट देणार आहेत. या दरम्यान ते पूरग्रस्त भागातील नागरिकांशी संवाद साधतील आणि नुकसानग्रस्त परिस्थिती जाणून घेतील.

पंतप्रधान नरेंद्र मोदी ९ सप्टेंबर रोजी पंजाबमधील गुरुदासपूरला येत आहेत. ते पूरग्रस्त नागरिक आणि शेतकऱ्यांना भेट भेटतील आणि पीडितंना मदत करण्यासाठी ठोस पावले उचलतील.

गुरुवारी केंद्रीय कृषी मंत्री शिवराज चौहान यांनी अमृतसर जिल्ह्यातील पूरग्रस्त भागांना भेट दिली होती. त्यांनी असेही म्हटले होते की, पूरग्रस्त भागांचा आहावा येण्यासाठी दोन केंद्रीय पथके पंजाबला भेट देत आहेत. जो त्यांचा अहवाल केंद्राला सादर करणार आहेत.

पंजाबमधील बहुतेक जिल्हे सध्या पुरग्या विळख्यात सापडले आहेत. त्यामुळे राज्यातील नागरिकांना मोठ्या समस्यांना तोंड द्यावे लागत आहे. यामुळे मोठ्या प्रमाणात झालेले नुकसान लक्षात घेता, केंद्रीय आर्थिक मदतीची सतत मागणी केली जात आहे.

स्थानिक 'रिअल इस्टेट ब्रोकर'ने सांगितले की, राम मंथान, ज्यात २० लहान एक बेडरूमचे अपार्टमेंट्स आहेत, जुन्या चाळीचे पाडकाम केल्यानंतर बांधले गेले होते. राम मंथान ७०८-स्क्वेअर-मीटरच्या खाजगी जागेवर आहे, तर सिद्धिविनायक सोसायटी, ज्याचे गेट मंदिराच्या अगदी शेजारी आहे, ते ट्रस्टच्या जमिनीवर बांधले आहे. मंदिर अधिकाऱ्यांनी सांगितले की, जर दोन्ही इमारती विकत घेतल्या तर नवीन, रुंद जागा १,८०० स्क्वेअर मीटरची असले.

स्वच्छतागृहांना प्रवेश नाही. अहवालानुसार, राम मंथानच्या संपादनासाठी सार्वजनिक सूचनेत म्हटले आहे की, त्याच्या व्यवस्थापन समितीने ट्रस्टला आश्वासन दिले आहे की, जागा कोणत्याही अडथळ्यांपासून मुक्त असेल. ट्रस्टचे अध्यक्ष सदा सरवणकर यांनी माध्यमांना सांगितले की, ट्रस्ट रहिवाशांना १०० कोटी रुपये देत आहे, जे बाजार दराच्या जवळजवळ दुप्पट आहे. हा प्रस्ताव राज्याच्या कायदा आणि न्याय विभागाने मंजूर केला आहे, जो ट्रस्टचे निरीक्षण करतो. हे मंदिर वैद्यकीय सुविधा, शैक्षणिक मदत आणि वाचनालय चालवण्यासह विविध धर्मांदाय आणि सामाजिक उपक्रमांमध्ये गुंतलेले आहे.

राऊत म्हणाले की, प्रत्येक मराठी व्यक्तीने शिवाजी महाराजांचा अदरंगही वाहणारी जाहिरात एकाच दिवसात ४०-५० कोटी रुपयांची असल्याचा आरोप केला आहे. राऊत यांनी या मोठ्या खर्चाला निधी देणाऱ्या 'अदृश्य' देणगीदाराची ओळख विचारली. त्यांनी जाहिरातीचे वेळेचे बंधन, खर्च आणि हेतू संशयास्पद असल्याचे म्हटले.
