HR INITIATIVES

Talent Management

Being a part of the Knowledge-based industry, attracting and retaining modern talent requires significant groundwork and reputation management. Fortunately, we have achieved success in establishing a strong reputation, which has enabled us to attract talent from various colleges for both Full-Time Employment and Internship opportunities.

Aligned with the organization's principles, our hiring process must mirror the excellence of our workforce. Therefore, in order to bring on board the most reputable and capable individuals, we have introduced an enhanced level of Background Verification, surpassing the standard checks.

Learning Culture in the Organisation

The excellence of our Research Report output results from a combination of various inputs, with one crucial factor being the comprehensive development of our people through a 360-degree approach. This approach involves exposing them to all aspects of Research, including deep research, modeling, analytics, writing, and, of course, formulating the final viewpoints.

Over time, we have embraced a learner-centric approach, tailoring our learning methods to match the individual's pace and schedule. This has led us to develop a hybrid learning model for our employees, incorporating both classroom sessions and a vast array of learning materials on our Learning Management System (LMS). With this setup, employees have the flexibility to access the relevant resources specific to their roles or future career aspirations.

HR INITIATIVES

Employee Connect and Engagements

We initiated a survey for new joiners in the last 30, 60, and 90 days to gather their feedback. This feedback is then carefully evaluated, and actionable steps are taken based on the responses received.

In this digital era, it is crucial not to lose sight of the actual realities on the ground. To remain connected and attuned to our employees' needs, we have initiated one-on-one meetings with them. Through these meetings, we strive to comprehend their perspectives and capture the essence of their ideas and suggestions for personal development and process improvements within the organization. This in-person platform serves as a valuable tool for fostering both individual and organizational growth.
