Chaman-Spin Boldak crossing reopens after talks between Pak, Taliban

Islamabad: The Pak-Afghan border crossing at Chaman that the Taliban had closed last week, has reopened. This decision was taken following a meeting between Pakistani and Taliban officials, Dawn newspaper reported. The transit trade and import and export of goods has resumed which had remained suspended for over a week.

"After negotiations with the Taliban the border has been reopened," a senior official of the Chaman administration told Dawn. On Friday, reports had emerged that Pakistani forces fired tear gas and clashed with the Afghans protesting at the Chaman border over the Taliban's closure of the border area.

The clashes broke out after a 56-year-old Afghan traveller died of a heart attack as he waited in the dusty heat to enter Afghanistan via the Chaman-Spin Boldak crossing.

Protesters carried his body to a local Pakistani government office demanding the border be reopened. Some began throwing stones at security forces, who responded by firing tear gas and charging the protesters with batons to disperse them.

On August 6, the Taliban had announced the closure of the border as Islamabad had ended the visa-free travel for Afghan people. The terror group last month captured the Chaman crossing through its aggressive offensive against the Afghan government forces.

FHRAI & EEMA join hands to address copyright issues

New Delhi: Hospitality Association - Federation of Hotel & Restaurant Associations of India (FHRAI) and Event and Entertainment Management Association (EEMA) have come together to jointly address concerns faced by its members over copyright issues of broadcasting AV content.

The two associations will collaborate to come up with a cohesive strategy to address the common challenges faced by industry players against the oppressive practices of certain copyright societies or agents.

"One of our immediate plans is to make joint efforts to address the Copyright Issues for the benefit of our members by creating a cohesive strategy to address the common challenges across both industries effectively. Currently, the copyright societies impose unregulated tariffs and intimidate

UK gunman had gun, license returned to him last month

London:

Britain's police watchdog says it has launched an investigation into why a 22-year-old man who fatally shot five people in southwestern England on Thursday was given back his confiscated gun and gun license last month. Police have said Jake Davison killed his mother and four other people, including a 3-year-old girl, before taking his own life in the port city of Plymouth. It was Britain's first mass shooting in over a decade.

Firearm crimes are rare in Britain, which has strict gun control laws and regulations. The Independent Office for Police Conduct said late Friday it would investigate the Devon and Cornwall police department's decision-making in relation to Davison's possession of a shotgun and the license.

The watchdog said it was not yet known whether the shotgun returned to Davison was the same one he used in Thursday's shootings.

Police took away the gun and the certificate in December 2020 following an allegation of assault three months earlier, the watchdog office said. They were returned to Davison last month. "We will examine what police actions were taken and when, the rationale behind police decision-making and whether relevant law, policy and procedures were followed concerning Mr. Davison's possession of a shotgun and the license," Ford said.

The investigation will also consider whether the force had any information concerning Mr. Davison's mental health and if so, if this information was appropriately considered," Ford said. Hundreds attended a candlelight vigil in Plymouth Friday, close to where the killings took place.

Police said Friday the motive for the shootings was unclear but there were no immediate signs they were an act of terrorism or that Davison had connections to extremist groups. They said Davison shot and killed his 51-year-old mother, Maxine Davison, also known as Maxine Chapman, at a house before going into the street and killing 3-year-old Sophie Martyn and her father, Lee Martyn, 43.

According to the police timeline, Davison next killed Stephen Washington, 59, in a nearby park, before fatally shooting Kat Shepherd, 66, on a nearby street. Two other people were wounded. Shaun Sawyer, chief constable for Devon and Cornwall police, told reporters that investigators think the crimes started as "domestically related" and "spilled into the street." He said the investigators were keeping open minds but do not think extremist ideology prompted the attack.

"Let's see what's on his hard drive, let's see what's on his computer, let's see what's on social media," Sawyer said. Davison appeared to post on YouTube under the name Professor Waffle. The account has been taken down and replaced with a notice saying it violated the site's community guidelines.

In a final 11-minute clip posted before the killings, "Professor Waffle" talks about how he was "beaten down and defeated by...life." He talks about struggling to stay motivated to lose weight and work out, and working as a scaffolder at ages 17-18. He hinted at lacking a love life, referring to "people who are incels" — shorthand for "involuntarily celibate."

Report: Hong Kong police investigating protest group

Hong Kong:

Police are gathering evidence and could take action against the Civil Human Rights Front, which holds the July 1 march each year and also organised some of the bigger political protests that roiled the city in 2019. Police Commissioner Raymond Siu Chak-yeo told Ta Kung Pao newspaper in an interview published Friday.

Siu told the newspaper that the group never formally registered with the government nor the police since it was established in 2002.

"Anyone who violates the law, they better not think they can escape," Siu was quoted as saying.

A spokesperson for the Hong Kong Police Department did not immediately respond to a request for comment. The group would be the latest target of a sweeping crackdown on dissent that has followed Beijing's imposition of the national security law on the territory last year. The legislation outlaws secession, subversion, terrorism and foreign collusion and has been used to arrest more than 100 pro-democracy figures since it was first implemented a year ago as well as the closure of pro-democracy newspaper Apple Daily.

The South China Morning Post newspaper reported Friday that the Civil Human Rights Front had decided to disband, but did not publicly announce the decision. The group did not respond to requests for comment through their social media sites, while a public email for the group returned an error message.

The group organized massive protests in June 2019 against a proposed extradition law that would have allowed suspects in Hong Kong to stand trial in mainland China, where the judicial system is opaque and often criticized as abusive. The proposed law was seen as further infringement from Beijing on the freedoms the former British colony was promised it could maintain following the 1997 handover.

Although the proposed bill was eventually withdrawn, the massive protests later burgeoned into broader calls for greater democratic freedoms, leading to months of demonstrations that at times turned violent between police and protesters.

US backs Lithuania amid China threat over Taiwan issue

Washington:

The United States has backed Lithuania after China threatened the Baltic nation over Vilnius's decision to establish the Taiwan representative office. "Deputy Secretary of State Wendy R. Sherman spoke with Lithuanian Foreign Minister Gabrielius Landsbergis today.

Both leaders emphasised the strength and breadth of the US-Lithuanian bilateral relationship, which is grounded in our NATO Alliance; strengthening US-EU cooperation, including with China; and our common commitment to advance peace, prosperity, security, democracy, and human rights in the Transatlantic region and across the globe," US State Department read-out said.

The US is resolute in its solidarity with NATO ally and EU partner Lithuania, including standing with them in the face of "China's recent coercive behaviour" in response to Lithuania's decision to develop mutually beneficial ties with Taiwan, the statement said. This comes after China recalled its envoy over Vilnius' plan to open a Taiwan representative office.

"Despite numerous notes and warnings from the Chinese side, the Lithuanian government recently announced that it would allow the Taiwanese administration to open a 'representative office' on behalf of 'Taiwan', which became a gross violation of the communiqué on establishment of diplomatic relations between our two countries," the Chinese Foreign Ministry had said in a statement. While expressing regret at China's decision to recall its envoy, Lithuania had said it is determined to pursue mutually beneficial ties with Taiwan.

In July, Taiwanese Foreign Minister Joseph Wu announced that Taiwan would open a representative office in Vilnius. Lithuania does not yet have formal diplomatic ties with Taiwan, but it maintains increasingly friendly relations with Taipei. Vilnius has been an increasingly vocal critic of China's actions towards Taiwan, as well as in Xinjiang and Hong Kong. Beijing claims full sovereignty over Taiwan located off the southeastern coast of mainland China, despite the fact that the two sides have been governed separately for more than seven decades.

BSNL carries out massive upgrades of Lakshadweep Satellite Bandwidth

Thiru:

State-owned telecom firm BSNL today launched high capacity satellite-based connectivity for Lakshadweep for providing broadband services under a Universal Service Obligation (USO) project funded by the Department of Telecommunications.

Minister of State for Communication, Devusinh Chauhan, dedicated the project to the nation.

On this occasion, he appreciated BSNL's effort to complete this project of national importance despite Covid restrictions in the island, an official statement said here.

Lauding the Lakshadweep administration for extending all logistical support to BSNL proactively, Chauhan said without their active support, this project would not have been feasible to execute in such a short period.

He further said this is only the beginning of a new era in the archipelago.

"Already BSNL, under USOF funding, has started working on laying the Submarine Cable between Kochi and Lakshadweep and also on another project of augmentation of Satellite Con-nnectivity from 1.71 Gbps to 3.46 Gbps," he said. This shows the commitment of the present government under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to digitally integrate all parts of the country into one Digital India platform, the minister added.

The project was inaugurated by making a video call by the minister to the Lakshadweep administration.

The function was attended virtually by Praful Khoda Patel, Administrator of Lak-shadweep also. While thanking BSNL, he assured that his administration would continue to extend all support to BSNL, a statement said.

Patel also expressed his appreciation and gratitude for USOF for supporting Connectivity projects in the island.

The support and coordination with ministries and wireless planning and coordination wing by Mohammed Faizal P P, the Member of Parliament of Lakshadweep, also helped BSNL to complete the project within the time, it said.

BSNL is looking to increase its network capacity to address growing demand of broadband amidst a sharp rise in data consumption across users and locations. The public sector service provider, for this purpose, has installed two Satellite Gateways in Bangalore equipped with most advanced technologies. These Gateways, designed considering the weather conditions of the island, offer exceptional efficiency and flexibility to the BSNL network at Lakshadweep.

Discom losses to be 40 pc above pre-pandemic levels: Crisil

New Delhi:

Cash losses of power distribution companies (discoms) will remain elevated at around Rs 46,000 crore this fiscal or 40 per cent higher than the Rs 33,000 crore seen in the pre-pandemic levels of fiscal 2020, Crisil Ratings has said.

This is because revenues will remain constrained as demand from high-paying, commercial and industrial (C&I) consumers have been lower than seen during pre-pandemic period, while tariff hikes have been inadequate. Costs are also likely to surge primarily because of higher interest burden because of ballooning debt. A study of 34 state discoms (from 15 states) which account for over 80 per cent of India's power demand shows as much.

Deal activity in India Inc slows to $40.7 billion due to Covid second wave: PwC

New Delhi:

Deal activity in India during the first half of 2021 amounted to USD 40.7 billion across 710 deals, including both private equity (PE) and strategic acquisitions (M&A), according to a report by consulting major PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC). A second wave of infections resulted in lockdowns across states, thereby hampering ongoing deal activities, it said in the report titled 'Deals in India: Mid-Year review and outlook for 2021 -- resilience and recovery.'

However, various timely policy and credit measures announced by the government to revive the economy and make it more resilient, and a stable banking system, have resulted in the growth of positive sentiments within the investor community. The deal value of USD 40.7 billion recorded in H1 2021 was 2 per cent higher than H2 2020 when deals worth USD 39.8 billion were recorded despite the unstable economic environment.

However, the deal value in H1 2021 was 14 per cent lower compared to the same period last year. The volume of deals recorded in H1 2021 declined by 12 per cent and 6 per cent compared to H2 2020 and H1 2020 respectively. PE activity in H1 2021 was at an all-time high at USD 26.3 billion, 19 per cent and 25 per cent higher compared to H2 2020 and H1 2020 respectively, said the report.

The surge in deal activity was fuelled by billion-dollar technology and healthcare which show stronger potential for growth.

M&A activity remained flat yet operational largely due to the few mega buyout deals that were recorded in H1 2021. The M&A deals space continues to be dominated by domestic deals with activity worth USD 6.2 billion being recorded in H1 2021. The report said PE activity kept the momentum going in H1 2021 and recorded deal value worth USD 26.3 billion, up by 19 per cent and 25 per cent from H2 2020 and H1 2020 respectively.

The PE deal value in H1 2021 surpassed the previous comparable periods in 2020 in spite of the large deals closed by the Reliance Group last year, totalling to USD
