The security guard of a liquor shop, who was attacked by some youths at the establishment in the Bhanwarkuan area, died during treatment late on Monday. The police said he had told the accused not to drink liquor in front of the shop after which they started an argument with him. The police have detained three people, including a minor boy, in connection with the incident and they are being questioned further.

Bhanwarkuan police station-in-charge Shashikant Chourasiya said the inciscious. After this, the accused managed to flee from the spot. Ashok was rushed to hospital and died on Monday night during treatment.

It was a challenge for the police to identify the accused. The CCTVs of the liquor shop were checked and the police managed to identify the criminals involved. On Tuesday, the accused, named Rajesh and Vikas, along with their minor friend, were arrested.
