CORPORATE BRIEFS

UPDATE MASTERCLASS BY RAM CHARAN & RAVI KANT

Ram Charan (Global CEO advisor) said leadership behaviour—not technology alone—will determine organisational success in the artificial intelligence (AI) era, urging boards to prioritise "Leading from the Back" (LfB) as a critical governance shift. While addressing a Bombay Stock Exchange boardroom audience alongside industry veteran Ravi Kant, Charan said trust, empowerment, and execution discipline are essential to realising AI's value, "Leading from the Back may be the most practical leadership shift boards must prioritise in the AI age.". Kant, introducing Charan as a global advisor to CEO's said applying LfB principles helped deliver over 50 per cent growth, adding that AI maturity is ultimately a behavioural journey. Research presented at the session showed a strong correlation between LfB maturity and AI maturity, highlighting the importance of leadership in digital transformation. Kant while concluding the event said "AI will transform industries but readership behaviour will determine India's future.
