Continental Petroleum Limited secures export orders worth USD 0.70 million (approx. INR 6.16 crore) for the supply of lubricants and greases

October 28, 2025: Continental Petroleum Limited (BSE: 523232), a leading manufacturer of lubricants, greases, and speciality oils, has secured new export orders worth USD 0.65 million (approximately INR 5.4 crore) for the supply of high-performance lubricants and greases to international clients.

These orders are scheduled for execution during the third and fourth quarters of the current financial year, further strengthening the company's export portfolio and global presence. With these new contracts, the company's total Lubes & Greases order book stands at approximately INR 19.36 crore (around USD 2.3 million), comprising both domestic and international orders.

The company's continued focus on quality, excellence, innovation, and sustainability has helped it build long-standing relationships worldwide. The new export contracts reflect Continental Petroleum's growing recognition and demand in international markets, particularly in regions where industrial and automotive lubricant consumption continues to expand.

Commenting on the development, Navneet Khandelwal, Executive Director & CEO, said, "Our growing export portfolio reflects the trust and confidence global clients place in our products. These new orders mark another step forward in strengthening our international presence. We remain committed to delivering superior quality and ensuring timely execution as we continue to expand our global footprint."
