PNB shares recover after fall after it reported Rs 2,434 crore loan fraud

Mumbai, Dec 29 (IANS) Shares of state-owned lender Punjab National Bank on Monday recovered after an earlier fall, after it reported a loan fraud of Rs 2,434 crore last week, allegedly committed by former promoters of SREI Equipment Finance Ltd (SEFL) and SREI Infrastructure Finance Ltd (SIFL). PNB's shares had fallen as much as 3.1 per cent to Rs 116.6 apiece earlier in the day, but were trading at Rs 120.55, up 0.15 per cent at 11:44 am. The PSU lender reported the loan fraud of Rs 2,434 crore to the Reserve Bank of India, alleging in a regulatory filing that the erstwhile promoters of SREI Equipment Finance Ltd and SREI Infrastructure Finance Ltd committed frauds of Rs 1,240.94 crore and Rs 1,193 crore, respectively.

The bank has made 100 per cent provisions against the entire outstanding amount, the filing added. The RBI, in October 2021, superseded the boards of SIFL and its wholly-owned subsidiary SEFL. However, Srei group has challenged the forensic audit report as the basis for the fraud classification, noting the matter is subjudice. Other banks such as Punjab & Sind Bank, Bank of Baroda, and Union Bank of India have also earlier declared a loan fraud in connection with Srei companies.

SEFL and SIFL, which carried combined financial debt of about Rs 32,700 crore, went through resolution under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code and were acquired by National Asset Reconstruction Company Ltd in December 2023. The PSU's shares showed robust performance across YTD, 1-year, 3-year and 5-year horizons up 17.43 per cent, 18.84 per cent, 117.60 per cent and 263 per cent respectively, despite a decline of 3.17 per cent in one month. PNB reported a 14 per cent rise in standalone net profit to Rs 4,904 crore for the September quarter of FY26 up from Rs 4,303 crore a year earlier.

Ola Electric faces tough year as market share drops over 50 pc in 2025

New Delhi, Dec 29 (IANS) India's electric two-wheeler market saw a major shift in 2025, with last year's leader Ola Electric losing a large part of its market share, while traditional auto companies strengthened their position. Ola Electric's market share dropped sharply to 16.1 per cent in 2025 from 36.7 per cent in 2024.

Despite overall demand for electric two-wheeler improving, the company sold 1,96,767 vehicles during the year, according to data from the government-run Vahan portal. The sharp fall highlights the growing challenges Ola Electric faced through the year. Ola Electric's troubles were also linked to operational issues, including customer complaints related to service delays and inconsistent deliveries.

Meanwhile, Bhavish Aggarwal-run electric two-wheeler maker reported a consolidated net loss of Rs

In an earlier exchange filing, the firm said that "For the Auto segment, we expect lower volumes than the Q1 guidance as we continue to focus on margin and cash discipline in a hyper competitive market. The stock of Ola Electric is also not performing well. Around 1:40 p.m., the company's shares were down 3.34 per cent at Rs

After 'two fugitives' remark, Lalit Modi issues apology to Indian government

New Delhi, Dec 29 (IANS) Former Indian Premier League (IPL) chairman Lalit Modi on Monday issued an apology to the Indian government, days after he referred to himself and liquor baron Vijay Mallya as the two "biggest fugitives" in a viral video, a comment that was widely perceived as a swipe at India.

In a post on X, Modi, however, did not clearly specify what exactly he was apologising for.

"I apologise if I have hurt anyone feelings especially the Indian Government who I have the highest respect and regard for. The statement was misconstrued and was never intended to be as played out. Once again my deepest apologies," he wrote.

The apology came after a video showing Modi at Mallya's lavish birthday party in London went viral last week. In the clip, Modi was heard saying, "We are the two fugitives, the biggest fugitives of India."

Modi had himself shared the video on Instagram, captioning it, "Let me do something to break the internet down again. Something for you folks. Eat your heart out with envy (sic)." The post triggered sharp reactions online, with several users accusing Modi and Mallya of making a "mockery of the Indian government" and the country's legal system. Following the backlash, Modi deleted the video from his social media account.

Reacting indirectly to the controversy sparked by Modi's remarks, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) reiterated India's position that those wanted by law would be brought back to face justice.

"We remain fully committed that people who are fugitives, who are wanted by law in India, they return to the country. For this particular return, we are in talks with several governments, and processes are on. In several of these cases, there are several layers of legalities involved. But we remain committed to bringing them back to the country so that they can face trial before the courts here," MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said.

Both Lalit Modi and Vijay Mallya, who are facing serious charges in India, have been residing in the United Kingdom for several years. Lalit Modi left India in 2010 after allegations surfaced against him relating to tax evasion, money laundering and proxy ownership linked to the lucrative IPL. The Enforcement Directorate has claimed that he manipulated the process of assigning IPL broadcast rights in 2009, allegedly in exchange for kickbacks exceeding Rs 125 crore.

Vijay Mallya, the former chairman of United Breweries and promoter of the now-defunct Kingfisher Airlines, fled India in 2016 amid allegations of financial fraud.

He is accused of defaulting on multiple bank loans and is said to owe Indian banks around Rs 9,000 crore.

In 2019, Indian authorities declared Mallya a "fugitive economic offender", a designation that he has challenged in the High Court.

The two high-profile businessmen were last seen together in July at a lavish private gathering in London, where they were filmed singing Frank Sinatra's "My Way".

The karaoke evening was hosted by Lalit Modi as his "annual summer party" and was attended by more than 300 guests.

Business Brief

Silver rally reflects physical supply deficit; prices likely to touch Rs 2.46 lakh per kg

New Delhi, Dec 29 (IANS) The silver market underwent a decisive structural shift in 2025, driven by prolonged physical supply deficits, inventory depletion and policy-led supply constraints, a report said on Monday. The report from Motilal Oswal Financial Services Ltd predicted that silver would touch Rs 2,46,000 per kg in the domestic market.

The brokerage continues "to maintain a buy-on-dips approach with a staggered investment strategy."

"While the initial target of $75 on COMEX has been achieved, the firm relates its target of $77 on COMEX, equivalent to Rs 2,46,000 on the domestic market, with further revisions dependent on evolving market conditions," the report said. The rally was not merely speculative but reflected "deep stresses between paper pricing mechanisms and physical availability," with mounting physical tightness and declining exchange inventories reinforcing that the rally is structural rather than cyclical. "The widening disconnect between paper pricing and physical availability highlights deeper stress in global price discovery mechanisms," said Navneet Damani, Head of Research – Commodities at Motilal Oswal Financial Services Limited. Manav Modi, Commodities Analyst – Motilal Oswal Financial Services Ltd, said that persistent inventory drawdowns across key global hubs, weakening arbitrage between Shanghai and COMEX, and repeated delivery pressures have exposed the limited availability of deliverable silver. The report noted that CY25 marked the fifth consecutive year of physical deficit in the silver market, with mine supply unable to match combined industrial and investment demand. Silver prices surged to record levels during the year, crossing $75 on COMEX and rising above Rs 2.3 lakh in the domestic market, marking gains of over 160 percent.
