‘Aai’ tourism policy gets nod

Maharashtra, May 31: The ‘Aai’ (mother) tourism policy under the ‘Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav’ has got a nod by the government of Maharashtra. The cabinet also gave a nod to women-run bike-taxi services in some tourist destinations. According to an official, a Women Tourism Policy Cell will be created under the Directorate of Tourism for the implementation of the Aai policy. The official added that a five-point program will be implemented as part of the policy. The five-point program includes the promotion of women entrepreneurship, the creation of infrastructure for women, prioritising the safety of women tourists, customising products for women tourists, and providing discounts to women travellers. A task force will also be formed under the chairmanship of the tourism minister for the effective implementation of the policy, said a statement from the Chief Minister's Office. Under the policy, 10 women-owned tourism businesses – homestays, hotels, restaurants, and tour and travel agencies – in each taluka will be registered with the DoT for the first five years.

‘Y64’ trailer screened at Cannes Film Festival

Chennai, May 31: Dr. Beena Unnikrishnan and film maker, presented the trailer of her documentary “Y64” at Cannes Film Festival. The film's director Jain Joseph and project consultant Jithendra Misra were present on the occasion. Dr. Beena Unnikrishnan has delved deep into her personal quest for self-discovery, driven by a desire to unleash the dormant feminine energy within her. Under the guidance of her mentor, the late Dr. M M Alex, Dr. Beena Unnikrishnan embarked on a spiritual odyssey that led her to the concept of yoginis. The Y64 documentary showcases the incredible feminine power of the yogini goddesses of the 9th century. The documentary, Y64 explores the world of feminine and masculine energy depicted in the concept of Ardhanareeswara, a half male and half female concept in Hindu Philosophy. The film advocates the coexistence of these dual energies within the individual and its union for unleashing energy to accomplish the missions in this world. This documentary is a powerful example of how the world can benefit from the coexistence of genders and the celebration of feminine energy, which had been discovered and practiced from as early as the 9th century. The incredible power of feminine nature and how it has been celebrated in the past, in union with the masculine aspect, which is time. Jain Joseph, the Director of Y64, has succeeded in communicating intense and complex layers of the film with simplicity. The visual portrayal of their travels to the existing yogini temples, gives a deep insight into Indian mythology. Overall, Y64 Film is a powerful example of how the world can benefit from the coexistence of genders and the celebration of feminine energy, which had been discovered and practiced from as early as the 9th century.

Summer snowfall draws tourists to Manali

Shimla, May 31: Fresh snow to Kullu and Manali valley, leaving Shimla battered by untimely rain, a definitive trend has emerged as far as tourist footfall is concerned for the state. A busy summer for the former twin towns, boosted by the summer snow, has meant low occupancy for hotels in the state capital. Speaking of the weather trend, a senior scientist at the Indian Meteorological Department's Shimla centre said, "May, which is the start of peak summer season, has witnessed relatively lower temperature this time? The intermittent rainfall and snowfall have kept the temperature low in the high and mid hills." "Last year it was sweltering in the plains, tourists rushed to the hills and business boomed. This year, the season has been lean. Instead of Shimla, tourists are witnessed relatively lower Kullu and Manali," says Anil Thakur, head of a Hotel occupancy on weekdays, which usually fluctuates between 40 to 70%, has remained close to the lower end of the spectrum at around 50%, he noted. Footfall in Manali, meanwhile, continues to swell. "The occupancy has crossed 80% at hotels here and is likely to go further up," says Paryatan Vikas Parishad president Anup Thakur, adding, "Since it's still snowing even in May, tourists are coming in droves. Many are visiting the snow-covered reaches of Kinnaur and Lahaul and Spiti districts as well."
